Soldiers' Bonus Is Practically Sure Of Passing In 1924

G. O. P. Progressives Map Out Program For Next Session Of Congress

HOLD BALANCE OF POWER

Annual Appropriation Bills Will Take Up Much Time Among Lawmakers

Washington — Republican Progressives of the west who will hold the balance of power in the new congress, are mapping out a program both as to legislation and the organization of the house and senate and are preparing to enforce their demands by every available means.

Because of the rather unusual situation this will develop, and the fact that the 1924 campaign is in the offing, leaders of the two dominant parties in congress look for the enactment of little affirmative legislation at the session beginning Dec. 3. Adjournment probably will be taken late in May for the national conventions and much of the time to that date will be taken up with the ironing and passing of the annual appropriation bills.

Enactment of a soldiers' bonus bill is freely predicted, but beyond that leaders are not inclined to commit themselves. Efforts will be made to put through some kind of railroad legislation, but there are so many conflicting views that the task of harmonizing them into a concrete measure is regarded as difficult. Much the same situation is expected to develop as to coal legislation.

TAX QUESTION DANGEROUS

Tax and tariff revision are looked on as only a remote possibility. Practical politicians in congress do not hesitate to say that these are dangerous subjects to handle during a national political year and consequently they do not look with favor on any plan to open up these laws to amendment. But there is another and equally cogent reason—if they should be opened to amendment, the Progressives might force a complete re-writing at least of part of the tax law. The modified excess profits tax, a levy on the undivided profits of corporations and other major changes in the existing laws are being considered by the Progressives and they probably will be proposed in bills to be introduced. Leaders of the Republican organization look upon these with disfavor certainly at this time, contending that they would serve to disturb the economic equilibrium and possibly affect seriously government finances.

Sponsors of the tariff law take the position that this statute is working out even more satisfactorily than had been anticipated, particularly from a standpoint of the public treasury, and that there is no insistent demand for its amendment.

Generally speaking, the passage of a bonus bill is viewed as capital as a certainty. President Coolidge's position with respect to this legislation has not been defined, but proponents believe they will have enough votes to override a veto should the executive adhere to the policy of the late President Harding.

TEAPOT DOME OIL LEASE IS BIG U. S. LOSS

Administration Decides To Change Policy With Regard To Naval Reserve

Washington—Teapot Dome, the Wyoming naval oil reserve leased last year to Harry F. Sinclair is being drained so heavily by adjacent private operators that it will produce far less oil than originally predicted, in the opinion of two expert geologists who investigated the situation for the senate public lands committee. Although the bureau of mines estimated originally that the reserve contained from 155,000,000 to 200,000,000 barrels of oil, the committee of geologists predicted that the yield from the main-bearing sands would not exceed 24,000 to 26,000 barrels. This estimate is by the navy and interior departments.

The reports of the two investigators, laid before the committee Monday in its inquiry into charges preferred by senate critics of the Sinclair lease, supports in general the contention of administration officials that the geological position of Teapot Dome made it no longer feasible to continue the policy of leaving the oil in the ground as an undeveloped reserve.

SURGEONS MEET IN ANNUAL CONGRESS

Leading Medics Of America And Foreign Countries Attend Five Day Conclave

Chicago—Leading American and foreign surgeons will speak and clinics will be held in 22 hospitals and medical institutions for the benefit of nearly 3,000 American surgeons attending the annual clinical congress of the American college of surgeons opening Monday for a five day meet.

The international movement to improve hospital facilities is shown in the report Monday of Dr. Franklin H. Martin, director general of the college of surgeons, approving 1,175 hospitals.

The statistics show that one of every ten persons in the United States has been in a hospital at some time during the year. The decrease in the hospital death rate during the last six years was declared to be a cause of pride. The report shows 4,758,365 patients were cared for in the hospitals during the year.

Dr. Harvey Cushing of Boston, retiring president of the college of surgeons, was to open the congress and the Rev. C. B. Moultrie, S. J. of Milwaukee, president of the Catholic Hospital association and others were to speak at the first session.

Federal Government And States Must Cooperate To Make Prohibition A Reality

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1923 by The Post Pub. Co.

Washington — Unprecedented in American history is the effort formally made Saturday by the federal government to obtain the cooperation of the several states in law enforcement.

Called into conference originally by late President Harding and now asked by President Coolidge again in the name of the federal authority to help execute the prohibition laws, the outstanding fact of the session here is that the states have failed to do their duty.

Whatever else the effect of the conference may be, one fact has already been emphasized above all others—that the federal government considers itself almost powerless to enforce prohibition unless the states bring to bear their hundreds of thousands of police officers and their scores of prosecuting attorneys and local judges.

Originally the framers of the constitution of the United States gave the police power, the authority to punish crime and regulate the individual conduct to the states. For decades the states have jealously guarded that police power. They yielded its reluctantly and in small pieces until the eighteenth amendment came before them when by ratifying the amendment they opened the federal government to enforce the liquor laws that might be made. The phrase "concurrent jurisdiction" was inserted in the eighteenth amendment because the advocates of prohibition felt after years of experience that the interstate traffic in liquors could only be regulated by federal law.

CONDITIONS GROW WORSE

But the testimony of the governors attending the conference is that conditions in many states have grown worse instead of better since the eighteenth amendment was adopted and that the need for effective enforcement is greater since the supply of intoxicating liquors has been reduced.

Unquestionably the federal government has not obtained all the results it has desired with reference to the control of the large coast lines of the United States nor has it been as effective as the prohibitionists would like to see it become in respect to the northern boundary at Canada or the southern boundary at Mexico.

The state executives naturally take the position that if the federal government stopped importations and interstate commerce in liquor the problem of the individual states would be easier to solve. The federal authorities, however, take the view that the important thing is to catch the local "bootleggers" and make an example of him by severe punishment. Some states have been too much inclined to let the federal courts handle prosecutions with the result that the dockets of the federal courts which have other important cases to try are congested and almost helpless to cope with the increasing number of violations.

Several physicians performed an operation Sunday evening, the lad remaining conscious throughout. He was not expected to survive the night. But was alive Monday morning. Little if any hope of recovery exists, according to the physicians.

HEAVY STORM SENDS VESSEL ON CARIB REEF

S. O. S. Calls Send Steamers Rushing To Aid Boat Pounding On Rocks

New York—The United Fruit Co. steamer, San Gil, out of Boston for Havana, Colon and Port Limon, reported by radio at 5:30 Monday morning that she was sinking in heavy seas southwest of Jamaica. She gave her position as latitude 13.32 north, longitude 81.29 west.

The message received by the Independent Wireless Telegraph Co. station at East Hampton, N. Y., said: "Weather heavy, pounding to pieces, passengers taking to boats. Hurry help."

It then gave the position. The radio station immediately sent the call "Q. R. T." signaling all other stations to stop sending. Fifteen minutes later another call was received from the San Gil.

"Help quick."

The message was broken off after the two words, and no more was received.

The radio station at East Hampton immediately started broadcasting the help call to ships at sea. Answers received from the steamship Portofino and from the steamship Pastore.

The latter vessel answered that she was on her way to rescue under forced steam, but would not be able to reach the position given before the middle of the afternoon.

The San Gil is of 1,775 tons register. Local officials of the United Fruit company said the San Gil had grounded on a reef off Providence Island in the Caribbean sea, 180 miles from the Nicaraguan coast.

She carried a crew of 51.

PASSENGERS, CREW, SAFE

Boston—"Passengers and crew all well," said a message received here Monday afternoon from the stranded steamer San Gil by way of Colon. The message added that there was danger from the gale if it continued at its present strength.

FORMER U. S. AGENT HELD FOR FRAUDS

New York—Gaston B. Means, a former agent of the department of justice has been indicted with Elmer W. Jarnecke, described as his secretary, on four counts involving alleged conspiracy to violate the country's dry laws and using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

Means' indictment became known Monday when the seals were broken on four indictments handed down Thursday to Federal Judge Knox. He was released on $15,000 bail for a hearing. It was understood Jarnecke would appear Tuesday.

The indictments charge a series of conspiracies to violate the national prohibition act, the liquor tax law and the internal revenue laws by illegally removing liquor from bonded warehouses and of using the mails to defraud Sam Schmidt of Chicago, in a whiskey selling deal.

WALTON WILL FIGHT HOUSE ON 12 COUNTS

Investigation Committee Charges Corruption And Incompetency

By Associated Press
Oklahoma City—The investigating committee of the Oklahoma house Monday will report twelve articles of impeachment against Governor Walton. The articles will allege corruption in office, incompetency and of course involving moral turpitude, the committee announced, with additional indictments to be returned within two days.

It is believed that with the house meeting at 1:30 o'clock, balloting on the accusations will begin by Monday night or early Tuesday.

Members of the committee say that if any one of the charges is sustained, M. E. Trapp, lieutenant governor, will become acting governor by midnight Tuesday night.

The senate will be prepared to take up the impeachment should any charge be sustained within two days, senate leaders say, with the final verdict to be reached within ten days.

Governor Walton will face the accusations through to the end, he declared Sunday night. "There is nothing to report," he told The Associated Press when informed of rumors that he intended to resign Monday. "Such rumors are merely to weaken my friends and supporters and stampede them. I have no intention of resigning—never have even contemplated such a thing."

Anti-Ku Klux Klan bills have been introduced in the house, but the investigation of charges against state officials subject to impeachment has been given priority.

Governor Walton will not be the sole object of official investigation. A resolution seeking to place John A. Whitehurst under legislative X-ray because of alleged irregularities in the state board of agriculture on thirteen occasions has been introduced. Mr. Whitehurst is president of the board.

COMMISSION RULES RETALIATORY DUTY CAN'T BE ALTERED

First Decision Handed President Under Flexible Provisions

Washington—The tariff commission, in an opinion sent to President Coolidge held Monday that it is without jurisdiction under flexible provisions of the tariff act to alter the retaliatory duty provided under section 401, which covers the duty on foreign goods or western hemlock. It was the first opinion to be rendered to the president under the flexible provisions.

The commission's decision was on an application filed by the Bledsoe-Denver Lumber Co. for a reduction of the duty of 31 per thousand board feet on imports from countries imposing a duty against American exports of the same commodity.

By a 4 to 2 vote the commission held that a duty imposed through such a provision as would characterize a retaliatory rate was not subject to increase or decrease by presidential proclamation.

ASLEEP AT WHEEL HE CAUSES FLOOD

Madison—Frank E. Macikowski, 702 Fourteenth, Milwaukee, returning to Racine where he is attending Northwestern university, fell asleep at 2 A. M. Monday while driving a large closed car in Fourteenth. The car went over the curb, and snapped off a fire hydrant and a telephone pole. Water overflowed the street for an hour before it could be shut off. The car was put out of commission with a cracked radiator, and the driver resumed his journey via taxi. He was not injured.

It is expected the replacement of the water hydrant alone will cost $150.

CHARGE BANKER HIRED THUGS TO ROB OWN VAULT

Modovi Financier Will Be Tried On Several Counts In Circuit Court

By Associated Press
Alma—The case of George B. Orady, former vice-president of the Mondovi State bank at Mondovi, Wis., charged with conspiring to rob the bank with thug, a bank and with being an accessory before and after the fact was on the docket when the Buffalo circuit court was opened here Monday.

The case is scheduled to go to trial Tuesday morning and it was thought the work of selecting a jury might be started late Monday afternoon after Judge George Thompson had disposed of naturalization proceedings. Because of the prominence of the defendant, the case has attracted wide attention.

Orady was vice-president of the bank when the institution was robbed Dec. 23, 1922 by two men who locked him in the vault and fled with $9,500. Several months later, Orady with Ed. Perloff, a real estate dealer of Durand, Wis., and Arthur Cantrell, a garage owner of Downsville, was arrested and all were charged with being implicated in the Mondovi robbery, which detectives "charged was an inside job." According to allegations of the state, the trio hired Charles Bladd and Alfred Meyers of St. Paul to carry out the actual robbery. This pair to get $2,000 apiece for their work. The state claims to have signed confessions from Bladd and Meyers, who are now serving sentences at Stillwater, Minn., for a creamery robbery, implicating Orady, Perloff and Cantrell.

COST OF LIVING IN U. S. SHOWS INCREASE

Price Of Electricity Is Practically Only Item Which Decreased

Washington—Cost of living in the United States based on the average for 32 cities, reported Monday by the bureau of labor statistics increased 14 per cent in the three months from June to September. The increase ranged from 2.7 per cent at Boston to two tenths of one per cent at Kansas City. Besides Boston, cities showing an increase of two per cent or more, were Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit and Indianapolis.

For the one year period, seven per cent at Cleveland was the largest increase.

The cost of living in September was 72.1 per cent higher for the country than the average in 1913. Food was 93.3 per cent higher, clothing 76.5, housing 64.4, furniture 122.4 and miscellaneous 101.1. Fuel and light, excluding electricity, was 51.3 per cent higher. The cost of electricity was shown to have decreased 5.1 per cent.

Author Bests Italian Duke In Foil Duel

Paris—In a duel fought Monday morning over a blow struck in a theater ticket tax dispute, Duke Lanza De Camasira, Italian nobleman, was wounded by a thrust from the sword of Jacques Richpen, author and husband of Cora LaParcette actress-theater manager. The Duke's forearm was penetrated about an inch and a half by his opponent's blade during the second phase of their passage at arms.

The wound was not dangerous and the nobleman insisted on continuing, but after four minutes further fighting his inferiority in the circumstance became so evident that the seconds called the fight and declared the post-victor.

The dispute arose at the Cora LaParcette theatre when the doorman tried to collect a government tax on a free ticket presented by the duke. Richpen endeavored to explain matters but the duke became offended and is said to have applied the epithet "blackguard" to the poet. Richpen responded with a slap on the duke's cheek.

PINCHOT URGES STRICT CONTROL OF RUM TRAFFIC

Pennsylvania Governor Suggests Measures For Enforcing Prohibition

Washington—Although joining the governors of other states who attended the White House conference Sunday in pleading cooperation of his state in the federal government's campaign for more effective dry law enforcement, Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania declared in a statement that "something more is required."

Before the states can be expected to suppress the illegal liquor traffic within their borders, he declared, the federal government must cut off the domestic sources of supply. He proposed that this be done by attaching conditions to federal permits for the manufacture, transport, storage and use of alcoholic liquors which he declared would make law-breaking "so difficult as to be practically impossible under anything short of actual collusion between lawbreakers and the enforcement officials."

Chiefly these conditions Mr. Pinchot said, should provide for detection of the permit for any violation of the law for its accessibility of "all parts of the plant day or night to state and national enforcement officers" and for shipment of products only at specified times and after inspection and stamping at the plant. This would be an effective measure, he said, against the "present flood of illicit drink" from breweries, alcohol producing plants and "laundries in bond. Smuggling as another main source, he asserted is a problem by itself.

WALLACE PROBES HOG PRICE FALL

Washington—Investigation as to whether prevailing low prices being paid for hogs are the result of undue influence is being made by Secretary Wallace.

Over a period of five years the secretary has found, the value of 100 pounds of hogs has been approximately the equivalent of 17 bushels of corn but 200 in Chicago prices, but the price has fallen to such an extent as compared with the rising prices of corn that the corn-hog ratio at present is much out of line with normal.

Hogs closed last week around 37 per 100 pounds for the average of bulk of sales while corn closed at $1.07 a bushel. The low price of hogs for the week was 35.56 for the week June 11-15, when corn sold at $4 cents. This was a gradual increase in prices until the week of Sept. 10-15, when the average packer and shipper purchase was $5.58. Corn sold that week at an average of 59 cents. In the last month hog prices have declined more than $1.50 a hundred pounds while the price of corn has increased 27 cents a bushel.

BERLIN CALLS CONFERENCE

Separatists Meet Strong Resistance In Trying To Take Over Mayence

By Associated Press
Duesseldorf—The Rhineland Separatists, having successfully proclaimed a republic in Aix-La-Chapelle, now are planning to make their regime effective throughout virtually the entire zones occupied by France and Belgium, they hope to accomplish their purpose before night if possible.

Joseph Mathies, Separatist leader, set up general headquarters at Dueren, a telephone system at his disposal in order to keep in close touch with the movement throughout the Rhineland.

Few details of what actually happened overnight had reached French headquarters Monday and it was unknown whether Crefeld and Muenchen-Gladbach were occupied, according to schedule.

The Separatists worked feverishly to establish their republic before counter plans could be set up. A public telephone system at Aix-La-Chapelle was interrupted to prevent news of the coup reaching Berlin.

Joseph Mathies, the Separatist leader, returned hurriedly from Wiesbaden Monday when he learned that a republic had been set up at Aix-La-Chapelle. He went immediately to Dueren to establish headquarters with the intention of taking charge of the republican movement and extending it throughout the Rhineland.

Separatists here doubt whether the republican movement will succeed elsewhere as easily as it did at Aix-La-Chapelle because that part of the German police which is loyal to Berlin is now on its guard and may offer resistance, particularly if Berlin instructs the force to oppose the separatists.

STOPPED AT MAYENCE

Mayence—Rhineland forces entered Mayence at 4:30 Monday morning but met resistance when they attempted to occupy the city hall. Two Separatists were wounded in an exchange of shots.

The Separatists then assembled in another building to await the instructions of their leaders who are understood to have decided to delay the proclamation of a republic here until Tuesday or Wednesday, meanwhile negotiating with the German police for the peaceable establishment of a Rhineland government.

The governments of the Reich and of Prussia are reported to have invited the leaders of the various Rhineland movements.

RAIL BOARD GRANTS INCREASE IN WAGES

The men through their union, had asked for increases ranging from 3 to 14 cents an hour. The increases granted range from 1 to 10 cents an hour. They are retroactive to Oct. 14.

The decision covers the thirty-five railroads but the new wage scales will also become effective on other railroads.

WASHINGTON CAN'T ENFORCE DRY LAWS WITHOUT STATE AID

Coolidge Thinks Local Police Must Make Examples Of Bootleggers

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—The federal government would like to see the federal judiciary which is always busy with vital matters relating to other laws. But state courts are influenced by politics to some extent and local district attorneys are elective officers, while federal attorneys are appointed by the president. Local politics has much to do with the vigor or lack of vigor of local officials, and this runs down through the police systems of the states, cities and towns.

SEEK PUBLIC SENTIMENT

What was attempted here Saturday is there fore not a formula for practical cooperation but an effort to build a sentiment for law enforcement. Without the will to enforce on the part of local officials there will not be any effective enforcement no matter what advice is given by the federal government to the states or vice versa.

In order to show that the purpose of the conference was more than the effectiveness of a single law, the broad subject of law enforcement, the immigration and anti-narcotic laws were up for discussion. The conference had but a few hours. The federal government took up most of the time with speeches from the president and department officers. A half a day was given to it all. The purpose was publicity for law enforcement—an appeal to public opinion. The real work of cooperation must be done locally, day in and day out by the prohibition agents of the treasury department, the United States attorneys of the department of justice and the investigating branches of the federal government, in harmony with mayors and superintendents of police. The governors can remove local officials for neglect of duty. It is to that power the conference is looking for effective enforcement of the law and the constitution.

RHINE REPUBLIC IS PROCLAIMED AT AIX LA CHAPPELLE

Poincare Doubts Success Of Movement; Fears More Trouble

Land Separatist parties to meet their representatives in the government building at Cologne at 11 o'clock Monday morning to discuss the immediate establishment of a Rhineland state within Germany.

Berlin, it is said here, believes that such a state must be proclaimed immediately in order to stop the spread of a separatist movement.

MANGIN OVERJOYED

Paris — Rhineland republic apparently has made a good start at Aix La-Chapelle and even skeptics are beginning to accept the possibility, even the probability that the movement will spread rapidly, so as to embrace the entire territory.

The Franco-Belgian authorities say that they do not intend to interfere unless there should be disorders. Belgian officials in Aix La-Chapelle where a Republican proclamation was issued Sunday took the position of interested observers when Separatists headed by Leo Deckers and Dr. Gurbart took possession of the public buildings at Aix-La-Chapelle.

Signs are not lacking that the less extreme Separatist factions will sink their differences in view of the success attained in the movement and join forces with Deckers' hands.

According to the latest advices, active groups of Separatists at Mayence, Treves Bonn and Wiesbaden will proclaim if they have not already done so, a republic in those cities.

General Mangin did not hide his joy at the news. "It confirms all my convictions which have so long been ridiculed," he told a reporter for L'Eclair. "The birth of a Rhineland republic will insure both our safety and the peace of the world."

POINCARÉ FEARS TROUBLE

It is understood that Premier Poincaré doubts the success of the Separatist movement in the Rhineland and apprehends increased difficulties for the allies if it succeeds. There seems to be more worry in French official circles over the situation in Bavaria than in the Rhineland.

The dismemberment of the reich would require partition of Germany's reparations obligations among the separate states, involving separate negotiations and multiplying difficulties by as many times as Germany was split into separate units.

The French authorities will remain neutral in the Rhineland. It is declared at the foreign office. The

Two Try to Drive Car; Three Hurt

Car Plunges Into Ditch When "Assistant Driver" Grabs Wheel

Three Appleton men were injured when an automobile turned over in running into a ditch near Darboy Sunday afternoon. Henry Kneack, owner of the automobile, remained uninjured.

August Tander was knocked unconscious at the time. He was conveyed to St. Elizabeth hospital where he regained consciousness Monday morning. His only injury was a scalp wound and was not serious. He was returned to leave the hospital Monday afternoon.

William Pasch, also one of the occupants, suffered minor injuries to his hand, and George Barlow had his tongue lacerated.

The accident occurred near Darboy shortly after 3 o'clock. One of the men sitting in the front seat with the driver seized the steering wheel and this sudden movement caused the car to plunge into a ditch and overturn, pinning the passengers underneath.

Hundreds at Supper

St. Edward parish of Mackville, served several hundred persons at a chicken supper at the school hall Sunday afternoon and evening. The serving commenced at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and continued until nearly 9 o'clock in the evening and people were present from all over the county, including a large delegation from Appleton.

French troops will intervene in no way between the Separatists and their adversaries unless violence breaks out. Then, in line with the policy followed by the occupation authorities since the allies went into the Rhineland, the troops will maintain order.

Whether the Separatist government will be recognized will be determined when the occasion for a decision arises. It is said and this time has not yet come.

GRAVEURE OPENS BEST MUSIC SERIES IN CITY'S HISTORY

First Number Of Community
Artist Series Will Be
On Nov. 9

When an artist like Louis Graveure is included a second time in an artist series, the temptation to hear him at all events is very great. Graveure, who was undoubtedly the most popular artist in the series last year will give the opening number of the Community Artist course on Nov. 9 at Lawrence Memorial chapel.

The Graveure number is the beginning of what is generally recognized as the best course that Appleton people have been offered. The number of programs has been limited to four, but these are outstanding artists and one number is the great Chicago Symphony orchestra. Few artist courses include an orchestra number because of the great expense which it means. Besides the orchestra and Graveure, a novelty number of the highest order will be furnished when Maier and Pattison, pianists, present their concert for two pianos. They have been given invitations wherever they appeared.

Phyllis Easton, the world famous prima donna, will furnish the last number of the course which will be in February. Season tickets are being sold at the Lawrence Conservatory of music and single admission tickets will be available a few days before each number. The course has been reasonably priced at $5, $4, and $3, according to the location of the seats.

ON THE SCREEN

ZANE GREY'S POPULAR STORY
IN PHOTOPLAY

Proof that the motion pictures have made strides toward becoming a really universal entertainment will be given at the New Bijou Theater Monday and Tuesday. Benjamin B. Hampton's great photoplay of Zane Grey's book, "The Man of the Forest," will be presented. Seeing this splendid play will convince the most skeptical that motion pictures have at last demonstrated their power of entertaining every class, taste and station of mankind at one time: a thing dreamed of by every sociologist and worker for uplift, but never realized until the recent development of picture art.

To put it in other words, "The Man of the Forest" is a photoplay that will please the habitue of the classic drama just as much as it will thrill the seeker after pure motion picture entertainment. It is not above the head of the one class, nor is it idle to say that it will positively delight those of the other class who give it fair trial.

The story is one of love and adventure, with its locale in modern Arizona of prohibition days, still a wonderland of romance as it is interpreted by the colorful pen of Zane Grey and the producer's rare art. A splendid cast of the screen's most talented players enact characters of the story. Carl Gantvoort, former madame's idol of the light opera stage, takes the title role. Opposite him is Claire Adams. The other major roles are powerfully and artistically interpreted by Robert McKim, Jean Hersholt, Eugenia Gilbert, Frank Hayes, Harry Lorraine, Charlotte Pierce, Frederick Starr and Charles Murphy.

CAST ADDS MUCH TO NEW FEATURE

"The Girl Who Came Back" Tom Forman's elaborate screen version of the stage production of the same title, proved a completely satisfying offering at the Elite theatre today and Tuesday.

Cast, production and unusually beautiful photography are in keeping with the colorful story of thrills and heart throbs unfolded with their aid. Miriam Cooper, more beautiful than ever, Kenneth Harlan, and Gaston Glass—both recent acquisitions of the Schulberg organization—Joseph Dowling, Za Su Pitts, Ethel Shannon, and Ed Malatesta, make up the scintillating company of players used to interpret the story.

It is difficult to select any one individual from a company of such uniform brilliance for praise. Miss Cooper and Harlan given the advantage of especially sympathetic roles, easily won the hearts of the audience, while Gaston Glass and Malatesta, even as bad men of the screen, succeeded in injecting so much of human nature into their parts as to make the on-looker, momentarily, forget that his sympathies were elsewhere.

Both Za Su Pitts and Ethel Shannon took every advantage of the comedic possibilities of their roles. Mr. Dowling, beloved of the screen's great players, was as convincing in the role of a "life term" as he was in the role of "The Miracle Man."

The story involves the regeneration of a girl whose efforts to clean the slate of her life form the nucleus for much dramatic action, carrying the spectator from the slums of a big western city to southernmost Africa.

There, on "the rim of the world," is fought a battle extending back to New York, where the climax occurs. The untangling of an unusual situation provides the cast and Tom Forman the director of the feature, with splendid opportunities for a number of tense situations.

Eight Million Marks Postage On One Letter

Although Germany has stopped attaching postage stamps to the regular first class mail, registered letters continue to be stamped as heretofore. The difference is in the amount of postage used. All previous records were broken when a letter delivered to an Appleton resident contained no less than 8,000,000 marks' worth of postage. In pre-war times the equivalent would have been about $2,000,000. The letter bore four stamps each of a denomination of 2,000,000 marks.

FINISH BIG SEWER CONTRACT AT MARION

R. J. Wilson & Co. has just completed a large sewer contract at Marion and is shipping its equipment to Appleton, where it will begin work at once on a new sewer on Walters ave which it expects to finish before cold weather. The company has had a busy season and at Marion had 60 persons on its payroll. It started the season at New London and from there went to Kimberly, then to Appleton, then to Marion and is now returning here on an additional contract of one-third of a mile.

Ravine Almost Filled In By City's Refuse

The ravine between Washington-st and the main track of the Northwestern Railway company, which is being used as a public dumping ground and which 25 years ago was the site of an electric light and power plant, is rapidly disappearing and it is doubtful if any trace of it will be left after house cleaning season next spring. So far the dumping has been done in the direction of the railway track, but now the city employes in charge has commenced filling in the narrow strip between the railroad grade and the made land working east parallel with the track. James Wilson of Kaukauna was arrested on a charge of petty larceny, but he is serving ten days in the county jail in order to be free from liquor until he recovers from an attack of delirium tremens.

Wilson was taken into municipal court Saturday by Chief R. H. McCarty of the Kaukauna police force for stealing a suit case from Elmer Johnson. He proved to be in such a deplorable condition that Judge A. M. Spencer sent him to jail for 10 days to recuperate.

RECORD DEMAND FOR TRAPPER LICENSES

Trappers are looking forward to a profitable winter. The office of the county clerk has been flooded this fall with applications for trapper licenses and tags. After John E. Hantschel, county clerk, disposed of the 1,500 tags he had on hand, he received orders for $90 more. When Mr. Hantschel communicated with Elmer S. Hall, state conservation commissioner, he was informed that he would not worry for the state is self and run short of about 250,000 tags. Only 50,000 tags were made at the deepest point is approximately 25 feet.

THE PRESIDENT AND PROHIBITION

President Coolidge, at the conference of governors, made it perfectly clear to his "guests" that it was the duty of the authorities of the United States and the several states to uphold the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act. He made it equally clear that the obligations of the states to cooperate with the federal government were joint rather than collateral. What other position could the president of the United States take on the question of law enforcement? Whether the federal government and the various states can enforce the eighteenth amendment as interpreted by the Volstead act to the letter may be doubtful, but there can be no doubt that it is their duty to give force and effect to the supreme law of the land to the full extent of their resources.

Those newspapers which, either through conviction or a desire to cater to their reading clientele, are opposed to prohibition have gone so far as to advocate nullification. Politicians who can derive profit from keeping this issue alive and not settling in one way or another are directly or indirectly giving approval to nullification. Both are on dangerous ground. It is true that some of the constitutional amendments other than the eighteenth have not been enforced literally and in the full measure intended, but they do not by any means present the issue of law enforcement to the extent that prohibition does for the simple reason that there is no conflict over them.

If the president were to say that enforcement of the eighteenth amendment would be by proclamation and that citizens could as a matter of fact obey or disobey it, as they pleased, it would be equivalent to saying that we could dispense with all law and the constitution itself to suit our personal convenience and taste. Yet that is what he would have to do if the views of those who stand for nullification and practice it, were right.

We think that so far as the agitation against the eighteenth amendment is confined to asserting the right of nullification it is all wrong. It can only lead to disrespect for law and authority and is destructive of the orderly conduct of government. There is only one right way to proceed and that is to make a specific attempt to have the eighteenth amendment more liberally interpreted by congress, so that the inconsistencies of the Volstead act will be removed and the extremes to which it has gone, that were not originally contemplated, even by the radical dries, modified. That is the avenue of relief to those who are honestly opposed to extreme prohibition, and it is the only moral and legal avenue.

FREE PUBLICITY IN THE NEWSPAPERS

At the annual banquet of the Maine Press association in Portland, Director William A. Thompson of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' association criticized editors for giving away valuable space in free publicity. At the meeting of the California Advertising service, in Long Beach, Mr. J. W. Sutphen made similar remarks, though he did not go as far as Mr. Thompson in condemning the abuse. What free publicity a newspaper should give, or how much, is something that each editor must decide, just as each editor decides what news should be run, and how much space each news article should occupy. But there is no doubt that the character and influence of a newspaper are greater in adverse ratio to the free publicity given.

The newspaper that gives no free publicity stands best with the public, and, likewise, with discerning advertisers. The newspaper that gives much free publicity is under suspicion by the people. Free publicity leaves the idea with the public that news space is purchasable. It leaves the idea with advertisers that the value of space in any section of the paper is over-estimated. The public intuitively reaches the conclusion, from reading free publicity matter, that it cannot place much confidence in any of the news published.

Advertisers should realize that they injure their own interests by asking for free reading matter. They should, in their own behalf, insist that no free reading matter should be run. Publicity that is news is not free publicity, but news. Any other sort of free publicity is propaganda.

The people are not deceived by free publicity. Editors and advertisers deceive themselves. The people generally recognize free publicity, and regard it as propaganda, and begin to mistrust the integrity and reliability of the paper that publishes it. Advertising agents should advise their clients against desiring free reading matter. Only news, editorials and features belong in the sections other than the advertising. Editors should refuse to publish free publicity, unless that free publicity is genuine news.

WHEN SHOULD A CHILD ENTER SCHOOL?

Every parent, especially every mother, is interested in the statement of Mrs. Marietta Johnson, direction of the Fairhope Summer School, Greenwich, Conn., that children should not be taught reading, writing and arithmetic until they are eight or nine years old. She advanced the suggestion at the annual meeting of the American Child Health association, in Detroit.

"We know," Mrs. Johnson said, "that all children are interested in things of the sense, in handling, creating, investigating and experimenting, in other words, in making and using things. This would mean that the school would be turned into a workshop and that tools and materials would be provided for the most wholesome sort of self-promoted, creative activity."

An erroneous idea which prevails is that there is no mental exercise in manual labor. The contrary is the case. The manual labor of the sense which interests the child is a form of play, and in a playful and restful state the child reasons objectively and subjectively in a primitive fashion. Prior to the eighth or ninth year the child is incompetent mentally or physically to concentrate his interest. He is, in fact incapable of learning the three R's except at much effort. After the eighth or ninth year, the child acquires fundamental knowledge more rapidly, more easily and surely.

In the green years of childhood there should be little but play. The play can, however, be the kind that trains the mind. Intellectual play cultivates a habit of mental concentration.

THE EXTREME CRISIS IN GERMANY

There is every indication that the supreme climax has been reached in Germany and that it will be imperative for the powers of Europe to exert the most determined efforts to settle the reparations question as speedily as possible. If Germany and France cannot come to an agreement in the conferences now in progress, joint action by the nations will be almost compulsory in order to avert revolution.

While Poincare is drastic and unreasonable, at the same time it is clear that the industrialists are still powerful in Germany. The situation is critical; its gravity could scarcely be exaggerated.

THOUSAND AND ONE CAUSES FOR HEADACHE

It is enough to give one a headache just trying to list or classify the different causes of headache. Instead of having a headache, let's try to assemble a beautiful idea about the headache and backache, which are traditionally associated with pelvic disease or "female trouble." The cheering truth is that neither headache nor backache occurs in most cases of actual disease of the pelvic organs of women; in most cases of chronic headache and backache in women there is really nothing wrong with the pelvic organs. If women are more subject to headache or backache than men, it is not because of their sex.

Running over a few of the thousand and one causes of headache as lightly as possible, there is the headache of syphilis, of malaria, brain tumor, uremia, fatigue, bad air, slight leakage from gas fittings in home or shop, constipation, overeating (which includes headaches attributed to "biliousness" or, if a fancier name is preferred, "ithemia"), nasal sinusitis, migraine, neuralgia, meningitis, the onset of the infectious diseases, arteriosclerosis with nephritis and hypertension, alcoholism (the morning after), eyestrain and various causes of the eye. The excuse for headache, the alibi headache, the so-called "nervous" headache, the headache of hysteria and that of ennui are varieties of deceit; and, as we agreed the other day in discussing imaginary neuralgia, an industrious prevaricator who specializes long enough on a given untruth or fancy comes in time to believe it himself. Victims of "nervous" neurasthenic or hysterical headache are in some such fix as that.

Persons exposed to the vapor or fumes of gasoline by the nature of their employment suffer from headache with marked anorexia or impaired appetite due to gasoline poisoning. Many other poisons, widely used in the industries, such as benzene, carbon disulfide, wood alcohol, sulphuretted hydrogen, and cyanogen, are responsible for headache among workers. The risk of fatal carbon monoxide poisoning of persons breathing the air of a closed or poorly ventilated garage where a gasoline engine is running is now generally recognized; a throbbing headache is a lucky warning signal in some such cases. Chronic headache may also be due to the daily breathing of air very slightly contaminated with carbon monoxide from engine exhausts.

Constant dull headache is a familiar complaint of persons with marked anemia from any cause. Next week we'll talk about eyestrain headache.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dieting
What should a woman 24 years old, 66 inches tall weigh? Please send me your dieting rules.—M. L. S.

Answer—She should weigh from 133 to 149 pounds. You request for dieting rules illustrates a difficulty I have commented on here many times, that the layman's language is as unintelligible to the doctor as the doctor's language is to the layman. The chances are you mean to ask for instructions for reducing weight, but that is not what dieting means to me. Nor to Dr. Noah Webster. It may be that you wish to increase your weight. Dieting would be as important in the one case as in the other.

Prophylaxis
I noticed that the new health commissioner of Chicago recommended the use of prophylactics against venereal infection. You would favor me greatly if you will recommend a prophylactic, as there are several brands and I am skeptical of them.

—B. E. J.
Answer—Ordinary cleanliness and ordinary morality are the best prophylactics.

Where The Spleen Is
Kindly tell me where the spleen is. Can it be enlarged from a bad liver?—Mrs. L. W. K.

Answer—The gland with this unfortunate name is in the northwest corner of the abdomen, under the lower left ribs; it may be enlarged from malaria and other causes.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE WORLD

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

A controversy has started between Henry Ford and Secretary of War Weeks which promises to count a lot in politics.

Ford blames Weeks for his failure to get Muscle Shoals. Not that he cares, Ford says. True, he thinks Weeks meant to injure him, but the fact is he has water power enough. No, he remarks, "it is not to me that Weeks has anything to explain; let him explain to the farmers."

That is, Ford declares, the thing for which the Shoals really are valuable to supply the farmers with cheap fertilizer. And this, he predicts, if "Weeks' friends" get them, is just what they won't use them for. They can afford, he says, to pay all it's worth for the property; in order to let it stay idle, so as to "retain the endless millions they now make through exorbitant prices of power and fertilizer."

SECRETARY WEEKS' REPLY

Weeks thought this statement by Ford worth a visit to President Coolidge right away. Then he issued an answer. "Reckless assertions" on Ford's part was its keynote. His reply, Weeks added, would have been "hotter if I were able to speak as a private citizen."

GRAFT CHARGES MADE

The Oklahoma Legislature finally met in special session. It was called by Governor Walton to consider anti-Ku Klux laws, but many people thought an attempt to impeach Walton would come first. Instead, a huge graft scandal came to the fore. A debate started in which it was charged official corruption had been rampant ever since the state was admitted. An investigation's to begin at once.

FEDERATION OF LABOR

The American Federation of Labor, in session at Portland, Ore., re-elected Samuel Gompers president, after vigorously repudiating the views of the "red" element which Gompers accused of "boring from within."

WETS AND DRYS

The labor federation also voted overwhelmingly for beer and light wine. Bootleggers were denounced by President D'Allesandro of the International Hodcarriers, Building and Common Laborers' Union, as among prohibition's strongest supporters. W. P. Clark, spokesman for the Flint Glass Workers' Union, declared whiskey glass manufacture has enjoyed a boom since pre-prohibition days.

Q. How many matches are used daily? C. H.

A. It is estimated that 700,000,000 matches are used in the United States each day. This means that nearly 500,000 flames are struck each minute.

Q. Do more women or men visit Europe? S. T. C.

A. A Cunard Line official made the statement that about two-thirds of the liners' passengers were women and girls.

Q. I would like to know the amount of gold in the United States Treasury? B. T.

A. According to the circulation statement of the United States Treasury, September 1, 1923, there is $84,204,761 in gold coin and bullion held in the Treasury.

Q. What is the origin of Halloween?

A. Halloween is a relic of pagan times. In England the infatuation of Druidical ceremonies is evidenced in the ancient Halloween fires. Certain of the customs which used to prevail in England were survivals of the festival of Pomona, the Goddess of Fruit. Halloween is called by this name, because the festival falls on the evening of October 31, which is the eve of vigil of All Hallows, the festival of All Saints; this falls on November 1st.

Q. To whom do we owe the expression "pussyfooting"? H. A.

A. It is said to have been popularized by the late Theodore Roosevelt. Q. When did the late Prince of Monaco visit Washington? W. L.

A. Prince Albert of Monaco visited Washington in April 1921. The Prince drew his revenues from the world famous gambling resort in the world and spent them in deep sea dredging in the interests of science. The Prince and Professor Albert Einstein came here at the invitation of the National Academy of Science—the Prince to receive the Alexander Agassiz medal awarded to him in recognition of his researches in the science of the ocean; the professor merely as a distinguished guest. The National Geographic Society also gave the Prince a medal. Prince Albert died in June 1922 and was succeeded by his son, Prince Louis.

Q. How long did it take Lincoln to deliver his famous Gettysburg speech? R. S. C.

A. Lincoln occupied about 5 minutes in reading his great oration. It was without applause, probably because the hearers were too moved to demonstrate. Mistaking the silence, Lincoln said to a companion: "I have failed again." Edward Everett, the renowned orator, also spoke at the dedication exercises at Gettysburg, his speech lasting two hours. He was splendidly received, but what he said was soon forgotten.

Q. How much brighter is full daylight than full moonlight? R. E.

A. Recent experiments have proved that full daylight is about 600,000 times as bright as full moonlight.

VAMP'S SHARE ONLY HALF A MAN, JUDGE IN PORTLAND RULES

Portland, Ore. — Vamps have only second mortgages on married victims of their wiles.

Such is the official dictum of Circuit Judge Freeman here in declaring open season on "divorced" women inclined to rear unfortunates' doctores on the ruins of another woman's home, using her husband as chief provider.

Under his honor's history-making edict, swank ladies of the garden variety who neither toil nor spin, will henceforth be compelled to have all earnings with the first wife, upon marrying the unfaithful object of their desires.

Attacking vamps via the pocket-book route, Judge Freeman believes will prove a deterrent to feminine home wreckers, since from now on they will have to love a man for himself alone, knowing that financially he is but a man.

"When a woman gets a second-hand husband, I consider she is entitled to only a second mortgage on his purse. She must divide her husband's income with his ex-wife," were the judge's official words.

So far, two couples have come about this new edict, and in each instance the light olive was said to have faded in the vamp's face, when she found the old pay check had to be split two ways every week.

You see glistening teeth wherever you look today. They add enormously to beauty and to charm. Learn how people get them.

That dingy film

Your teeth are coated by a viscous film. You can feel it now. Under old brushing methods, much of it clings and stays. Soon it becomes discolored, then forms dingy coats. That is why so many teeth lose luster.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

That is why cloudy teeth, unhealthy teeth and gums, became so alarmingly common.

Dental science has now found ways to effectively fight that film. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. The other removes it without harmful scouring.

Many careful tests were made to prove these methods. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Leading dentists everywhere began to urge its use. Now it has brought a new dental era to the homes of some 50 nations.

It does far more

Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids. It

KENOSHA HOTEL BOMBING REVIVAL OF FEUDAL TROUBLE

Windows Of Three Buildings Shattered By Early Blast—Nobody Hurt

Kenosha—Windows were shattered in three business buildings here early Sunday morning when a bomb placed under the doorsteps of the Rambler hotel by some unknown feudist, exploded, causing consternation for several blocks in the neighborhood. Joseph Geansell, proprietor of the hotel, and his family escaped unhurt, but nearly every window in the house was demolished. Two large plate windows in adjoining buildings also were broken.

Police found parts of the bomb, showing that it had probably been made from gunpowder and dynamite. It is believed that it was placed there as a warning, it not being the intention of the feudist to cause the death of those in the house.

The steps were torn away, one beam of them being hurled twenty feet in the air. Geansell and Felix Amelch, the latter the owner of the building, maintain they know of no enemy who might have perpetrated the act.

Police believe it may be a revival of the old feud which has existed in the Kenosha Italian colony for many years.

STUDENTS REFUSE TO SEE KAUKAUNA BEATEN BY RYON

Only a Few Fans Watch College City Win By 35 To 0 Score

Kaukauna—Although somewhat lighter in weight than the Shawano team which played here last week, Ripon high school football moped the local crowd at the Kaukauna stadium to the tune of 35 to 0 Saturday afternoon. Staunch determination in the first half on the part of the Orange and Black held the visitors to one touchdown but in the second half, and especially in the last quarter, the best of the Ripon team made itself apparent.

In addition to the handicap of weight the local team is compelled to fight a losing battle week after week without the support of a corporate guard of high school students. About a score of students attended the "morning" Saturday and during the opening period strove valiantly to show their pep. The enthusiasm peaking Friday afternoon during which Superintendent Cavanaugh showed a real concern for the students. There was no school play apparently did not go good. When asked if there is something wrong with the school, the students nonchalantly answered "yes" and let it go at that. None of the "sunshine" patrons offered to explain why something is wrong.

It is believed that the presence of a large crowd of students with their camp at the beach for the first half of the game, and the fact that the local backfield, strengthened by Farwell, made several flashy gains during the visiting line but lost its pep within scoring distance. The Miller and Farwell in the backfield and Berger and Dittus in the line bore the brunt of the battle and were most conspicuous on the defense. McCarthy, Kaukauna's biggest man, was "spotted" from the beginning, the entire offense of the opening line being centered on an effort to shove him away from every play with the result that most of Ripon's gains were made on that side of the line.

6 MINISTERS ASSIST IN MISSION FEST SERVICE

Kaukauna—Annual mission festival service which was held Sunday in Reformed church were largely attended by members of the local congregation and visitors from Reformed churches in the neighborhood. Six pastors assisted in the services Sunday-morning, afternoon and evening. The principal speaker was Benjamin Stucki, superintendent of the Nellisville Indian mission school, who gave a talk on all services.

The attending ministers were the Rev. Edward Nuss of Appleton, the Rev. Herman Schmidt of Porters, the Rev. E. Buehrer of Green Bay, the Rev. W. Oelrich of Oshkosh, and the Rev. J. Bussion of Dale. The Rev. Mr. Buehrer and Mr. Oelrich spoke at the Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:30.

MARAUDER TAKES $9 FROM KAUKAUNA MEAT MARKET

Kaukauna—An intruder entered the A. P. Bergerson meat market, 120 Wisconsin-ave Friday evening, and left the building a short time later with about $9 in cash. A little less than half of what he might have had. He dropped a $10 bill while rummaging in the cash register and it remained unnoticed on the floor where it was found Saturday morning. The cash register the robber "traced" up $45.75. Nothing else in the shop was touched.

HARTFORD IS EASY FOR LEGION SQUAD

Kissel Motor Team Loses By 51 To 6 Score At Kaukauna

Kaukauna—The Kissel Motors football team of Hartford failed to live up to expectations and went into action against the American legion team Sunday afternoon with most of its cylinders missing. The final score at the end of a long drawn out game was 51 to 6. Hartford earned its touchdown in the third quarter when one of Kaukauna's forward passes was intercepted on the visitor's 20 yard line from where the Hartford runner raced to the goal.

A story of the game would be useless repetition. As usual the legion too kept lead in offensive from the start and gained at will at the same time forming a stone wall defense against the futile attack of the invaders' backfield men. Toward the end of the game Coach Ashe, made substitutions promiscuously until every man in uniform had a few moments in action. Each change in line up made the Kaukauna team lighter in weight but very little weaker.

The entire legion squad felt more Friday than usual and in many instances was not stopped in its advance until half the opposing team blocked the path. In the second half the rout took on a baseball aspect and the legion ends and backfield distinguished themselves time and again by capturing difficult passes for gains of from 10 to 30 yards. Forward passer were tried almost exclusively during the last period with excellent results. Milton Kink, member of last year's high school squad, and Warren Brenzel, veteran legion player, were particularly in the limelight when they pulled down passes in a manner that would have been a credit to a felder on a baseball diamond.

LAABS BUYS HUGE BARBER STOCK FARM

Former Alderman's New Property One Of Show Places In Dunn-co

The 454 acre farm in Dunn-co which Alderman A. W. Lester has just purchased from the W. D. Smith estate was the hobby for many years of the owner, a wealthy Chicago business man. The property was sold by the widow to close up the estate.

Mr. Smith was a lover of nature and trees and during the many years he owned the farm he never permitted a live tree to be cut down. As a result there are 200 acres of virgin timber on the farm most of which is maple and elm. It is one of the very few virgin tracts still standing in that part of the state.

The property has been one of the leading stock farms of western Wisconsin for years and the stables, barns and residence are modern in every respect. The residence is supplied with hard and soft water by gravity from reservoirs on a hill near the purchase price of the farm, which has not been made public, included all the livestock, farm machinery, furniture and other household goods. Mr. Laabs turned over all his Appleton property, including his home at 233 Mason-st. and his interest in his real estate business, paying the difference in cash.

STATE IS LOSING PALMOLIVE OFFICE

Reorganization In Delaware Leaves Only Small Interests In Wisconsin

Milwaukee—Contemplated reorganization of the Palmolive company will affect many Milwaukee stockholders in the firm when it is accomplished. The Palmolive Company of Delaware has been formed with an authorized capital stock of $12,000,000, of which $4,000,000 is to be issued.

The newly organized company is to take over and operate all the Palmolive company business excepting the Milwaukee plant and sales in Wisconsin, which will be conducted by a separate corporation. Holders of 7 per cent preferred stock in the present Palmolive company are being invited to exchange their stock for preferred stock in the Palmolive company of Delaware, bearing the same rate of interest. A small bonus will be offered for the exchange.

The Wisconsin management will be a subsidiary of the Palmolive company of Delaware and may be organized as a Delaware corporation. This reorganization comes as the result of the determination of the company to remove the executive headquarters and a part of the accounting offices to Chicago.

Haskin Tells Would-Be Song Writers What To Do

Would-be "Banana" song authors and authoresses (take notice) are musical conservatories, one even in Appleton, that will teach musical composition.

"But we assume that this is not the type of institution to which you refer," writes Frederic J. Haskin, director of the Post-Crescent Information bureau at Washington, D. C. in reply to a letter from a Hortonville girl, who would like to become famous as well as make money as a song writer. The girl is referred to musical publishers who make a business of accepting song poems and arranging the musical settings.

There is also a Hortonville boy who is worried about cigaret smoking. Will seven cigarettes a day harm a boy of 15 to 20 years? Ahem! In some persons smoking increases, in others diminishes mental activity. Of special interest has been the action of the heart. It may affect the circulation, respiration and digestion. In case of nervousness and diseases of the nose, mouth, throat and eyes through smoke, tobacco should be avoided Mr. Haskin advises.

The wife of a blind man in this country appeals to Mr. Haskin for information as to whether there is any cure for blindness that has been caused by wood alcohol. There is no help, he says.

A Lawrence college student submitted a list of questions on political economy. "Excess condemnation" is a form used when the state takes more property under its right of eminent domain than it actually needs. He is informed. The student also asked for instances of industries which have succeeded and which have failed under a policy of protective tariff. The wool industry has succeeded and

Sheboygan Falls Lady Gains Fifteen Pounds

"I know others besides myself who have taken Tanlac with fine results and therefore I can say the treatment is wonderful," says Mrs. William Michaels, Monroe-st., Sheboygan Falls, Wis.

"As for myself, I took Tanlac about two years ago after I had suffered for a year or more from sour stomach, heartburn, palpitation, shortness of breath with headaches and dizzy spells. I had lost weight and strength until I was fearfully nervous and felt completely worn-out.

"Tanic soon had me eating and sleeping like a child and five bottles did away with my troubles entirely, and not only that, my weight increased every bit of fifteen pounds. I have had no trouble with my health since, but if I should I will lose no time getting Tanlac."

Tanic is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 57 million bottles sold. Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills.

BADGERS ENTERED IN NATIONAL SHOW OF BUTTERMILKERS

Every Buttermilk Maker in State Invited To Exhibit His Product

Outagamie county will be represented in the butter exhibits at the National Creamery Buttermilk Makers' association convention in Madison Nov. 6, 7 and 8. Every butter maker in the county is asked by Robert Amundson, county agent, to make a 20-pound tub of the very best make of butter. The state association which will meet jointly with the national association hopes to have a 100 per cent exhibit from every county.

Entry blanks, shipping tags and full instructions for the prize exhibits were mailed from state headquarters to every butter maker in the state on Oct. 1. The butter contest will be one of the main features of the convention. National and state gold, silver and bronze medals, cash prizes, silver cups and diplomas are to be awarded exhibitors of high scoring butter. The national association will award a large silk banner to the state having the highest average score on ten exhibits of butter. To win the banner, Wisconsin wants every butter maker to enter the contest.

In addition to the prizes mentioned the state association will award the usual state and district cash prizes and diplomas. Hence if an exhibitor loses out on a national prize he still has a chance for a state or district prize.

200 Children Enrolled In Religious Day School

Youngsters Obtain Moral Training Lacking In Public School Curriculum

"Each religious body responsible for the religious life of the city's youth either cooperatively or individually."

"That is the slogan of Appleton's cooperating churches and the result is the religious day school. Three years ago under the guidance of Prof.
E. E. Emme of Lawrence college, the religious day school was founded with the assistance of eight churches—
Congregational, Episcopal, Emanuel Evangelical, Baptist, Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian, German Reformed, and German Methodist. Their purpose is to teach the youth of the city practical christianity and to show them the way of moral living."

Prof. Emme has built a fine foundation and Dr. John Denney, who succeeded him as director, feels that too much credit cannot be given him for his work. Many of the pupils of the preceding years have returned to resume their studies. This fact alone is a testimonial of the popularity of the class with the children," Dr. Den-ney said.

NEED BIBLE STUDY

The Wisconsin state law requires moral teaching in the public schools
but does not allow biblical study except in parochial schools. The cooperating churches believe that some knowledge of the Bible is necessary and helpful to the child and as a consequence established this school. They plan to give the students Christian training based upon principles of Biblical stories. The method of procedure is not like that of a catechism
but in the form of retold bible stories.
In the opinion of Dr. Denney, the law wisely separates Bible study from the academic work not only because of the difference in denominations, but from the viewpoint that all public school teachers are not qualified to teach religious study because they do not enter into this phase of the work with the proper spirit.

The vacation bible school which has been in session every summer for the last three years, was the nucleus of the day school. There is, however, a recreation connected with the day school. It is like a class in the public school, held one hour each week, every minute given over to study. An effort is made to maintain the public school atmosphere and to make a regular school study out of this religious work, yet keep it separate from the other educational institutions. The question naturally arises as to whether the pupil loses any valuable study
when he is excused from his school work to attend the bible class. The answer is no, for the time given over to the religious day school is the time that would ordinarily be spent in moral training.

NO MARKING SYSTEM

No merit system is used; neither is there a method of marking the student upon the grade of his work.
Lessons are assigned and the pupil is expected to prepare them just as he would prepare an assignment given by his teacher in the public schools. However, there is one incentive. J. W. Dennison, vice principal of the religious school, has promised that he will give a party to the class that has made the best showing during the school year. Sunday school attendance, day school attendance, punctuality and assigned memory work will be considered in deciding the winner. Mr. Dennison feels that one pupil can sell the idea to another if he has something to encourage him in his work.

The work is divided into grades, including the fourth, fifth and sixth. On Tuesday and Thursday the school
meets at the Y. M. C. A. and on Wednesday in the Episcopal church. No effort is made to keep the classes divided into the wards from which the children come.

Every child has a note book in which he keeps a record of the day's lesson and illustrates it with suitable pictures.

The faculty includes: Principal, Dr.
John Denney; vice principal, J. E.
Dennison; teachers, E. C. Lease, Mrs.
H. K. Pratt, Mrs. C. A. Wagner and Miss Marie Finger. A council composed of two representatives from each church attends to the maintenance and keeps its church acquainted with the progress the school is making. W. E. Smith of the Methodist church is president of the council and is taking a tremendous interest in its wellfare. John Trautman of the Emmanuel Evangelical church is secretary-treasurer. Dr. Samuel Plantz of Lawrence college, Judson G. Rosebush and
F. J. Harwood are honorary members.
Other representatives from the various churches include R. E. Carncross and M. H. Small of First Congregational church, H. Sandborn and Miss
M. Culbertson of First Baptist church,
C. E. Baker and H. A. Babcock of the Episcopal church, L. Wurt and G. Sorenson of Emanuel Evangelical church,
M. J. Sandborn and W. E. Smith of First Methodist church, J. Merkle and Mrs. C. Wagner of the German Methodist church, Mrs. M. Wells and W. S. Smith of Memorial Presbyterian church, Miss Tillie Jahn and Simon Wehrmann of the Reformed church.

The present enrollment is over 200
and is growing steadily. The students are enthusiastic about their work and enter into it with a zest that bids well for its success.

Chasing Nora Song For Popularity

"No No Nora," which for the last two weeks has been the most popular selection in phonographic records and sheet music, was maintaining its place as the leading record last week. "Last Night on the Back Porch" has also been a favorite for several weeks and is continually gaining popularity. These two pieces with "That Old Gang of Mine" had the largest sales last week. Many new pieces have been placed on the market but have yet to establish a demand. There was no special demand noted for any particular classical piece last week, although the sale
for this type of music was not below normal.

People who bought new phonographic records last week chose the following selections:

WATER AERATOR AT FILTER PLANT DOES ALL EXPECTED OF IT

Water Palatable As In 1922,
In Spite Of Greater
Handicaps

The aerator that was installed last year at the Appleton waterworks plant will be closed on Nov. 1, as heavy frost can be expected at any time now. The aerator fountain is exposed to the open air and not protected against frost.

A second year's experiment in improving the taste of the water has convinced A. J. Hall, plant superintendent and bacteriologist, that the aeration system is a successful means in combating the Lake Winnebago algae that come drifting down the Fox river and cause trouble with Appleton city water during the summer.

The excessive heat in early summer caused the water vegetation to make its appearance much earlier than usual and also to multiply faster. Water consumers who complained about the taste of the water during the summer of two years ago doubted whether the flat taste and displeasing odor could be removed this summer.

Aeration accomplished what it did in the summer of 1922 and did it just as effectively, although with greater handicaps, according to Mr. Hall. With a greater volume of algae in the water, the efficiency of aeration naturally had to be increased. The result, however, proved that the water was just as palatable as it was in the summer of 1922 when the system was installed.

The process of aeration, or spraying the water in the open air, allows the water to absorb the oxygen and sparkle with life. That the consumers of Appleton this year drank much more water than ever before is ascribed to the success of aeration.

BACK PORCH SONG LEADS IN SHEET MUSIC SALES

"Last night on the Back Porch" has taken the place held by "No No,

he appeared in concert in Appleton with the eight Victor artists, has lost its place altogether on the list of the five most popular pieces of sheet music. "Indiana Moon" and "That other for second place in the group.

Pieces which were most popular with music buyers last week were:
Miss S. E. Anderson: Lilac Lane,

History and Arithmetic

Our Appleton Building and Loan Association was organized April 1919. We commenced business June of that year, and now have over $275,000.00 of assets consisting entirely of first mortgages on Appleton homes. We take the savings of a large group and loan it to a small group. The association is directed by nine men whose names appear below. They have found it possible to declare 6% since organization on all money saved and in addition build up a reserve fund of $4,300.00.

Our arithmetic is very simple---We will use the book of one saver for example. In this case $10.00 per month was saved of course various amounts may be selected.

*First Mortgage
Most Profitable
Safe Investment
Today*

REAL ESTATE SECURITIES
The large expert investing institutions of the Nation—such as the great insurance companies—have long recognized the first mortgage on real estate as the most stable form of safe investment and today the larger part of the funds of the insurance companies is invested in Real Estate First Mortgages. A recent report of a legislative investigating committee in the state of New York, which analyzed the investments of the great insurance companies, stated:

“We have overwhelmingly established by the mass of statistics gathered from all sections of the country that over a long term of years and year by year, mortgage loans on real estate have proven the most stable, conservative and best income-paying investments of these institutions.”

The same investigation showed that the average return over a long period of years was larger real estate mortgages than from any other form of investment. The reason for this, of course, lies in the fact that losses on more speculative securities of higher yield offset any higher interest or dividend return.

MRS. WHARTON'S NEWEST BOOK ON LIBRARY SHELVES

Gertrude Atherton's "Black Oxen" Still In Great Demand

One of the newest books at Appleton public library is "A Son at the Front" by Edith Wharton, an American now living in Paris. Although the author was born in New York City, France is her country by choice. Mrs. Wharton's latest book gives a picture of life in Paris from August 1914, until the entry of America into the world war. The story deals with an American artist living in France, his son at the front, the artist's divorced wife who has more beauty than brains and more money than both and her second husband, an American banker living in Paris. The problems that arise through the love of these parents for their son are worked out in an interesting and truthful way. The author has avoided all sentimentalism, not even the sentimentalism of patriotism. This alone is an accomplishment, for to the author France represented everything that was good and Germany everything evil.

William Lyon Phelps, in speaking about this story in connection with three other books about the war, says: "These four books are works of art, written with honesty, sincerity and intelligence."

"Black Oxen" by Gertrude Atherton which has been so popular for the last three weeks, is still in great demand at the public library. The mere fact that it is not considered a choice piece of literature has had a great deal to do with its popularity.

"Putnam's Handbook of Etiquette" by Roberts, "1492" by Johnson and "Life of Christ" by Papini have been the most popular books in the library for the past week. Books on etiquette were never more popular than now, due to the advertisements, warning people of the terrible misfortunes and embarrassments that may be theirs if they do not use the various books on "good manners." This, is creating temporary demand and is doomed to a natural death when the advertising agents for these books can think of no more social blunders that mortals are apt to make. The fact that many of them contradict each other is the most amusing part of these etiquette books.

FORMER PASTORS SPEAK HERE SUNDAY

German Methodist Church Celebrates 25th Anniversary Of Dedication

Large crowds attended all the services in German Methodist church Sunday when the twenty-fifth anniversary of the church's dedication was celebrated. Three former pastors assisted the Rev. J. L. Menzner present pastor, at the services.

Sermons were delivered by the Rev. B. B. Schlung, J. A. Jandre and H. Feldt, all of whom had charge of the congregation. Among other ministers in attendance were the Rev. J. J. Moore of Berlin, the Rev. E. A. Wright and E. M. Salter of Appleton. Services were at 10:15, 2:15 and 7:15 and all were well attended. About 350 persons packed the church for the afternoon service.

Oscar Sommers, 13, son of Wenzel Sommers, 913 Jefferson-st., was injured Saturday afternoon when struck on the cross of College-ave and Lawrence-st. by an automobile owned by Henry Auer, 1236 Lawrence-st. The boy was running across College-ave and was on his way to the football game between Lawrence and Beloit colleges. He was taken to the office of a surgeon where an examination revealed a scalp wound of about three inches in length.

SPIED TODAY

Passing up chances to obtain free tickets to the Elite theatre is like throwing away good money. The Post-Crescent offers a pair of tickets good for any program at the Elite except on Sundays and holidays, for every item that is printed in the Spied Today section. All that is necessary to have the items printed is to report an interesting happening and write the story in an interesting manner. All the facts must be given and the name of the writer must be signed. The Post-Crescent wants its readers to take advantage of this chance.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE

College-ave was the scene of a little bridal fest on Wednesday afternoon. The bridegroom on his way to the photographer's, parked the car in front of Langsdorf-Meyer's and was leaving it when one of Gih Horst's players who was practicing upstairs saw a chance for a joke. The orchestra immediately played Lohengrin's Wedding march, but to the surprise of the newlyweds.

THAT FOR HIS POLITENESS

As I was coming out of Woolworth's Saturday night "I Spied" a little boy get his hand caught in the swinging doors of the store. In trying to open the door for a woman he slipped and fell, and the door, coming back at the same time caught his hand. A woman landed his hand and the boy walked out of the store crying softly to himself.

STEALS BICYCLE LIGHT

Sunday afternoon I went to the Bijou theatre and left my bicycle out in front. When the show was over, my bicycle was gone. I looked for it all over and finally found it on the south side of the building with the bulb missing from the light. Someone had tried to remove the battery too, but found it too difficult, thank fortune.

SHE TOOK HER COAT OFF

Saturday morning about 9 o'clock I spied a girl about 20 years old and rather stout look at the scale in front of Walker's drug store. Then she glanced at her heavy fur coat and must have thought it too heavy to be weighed in. She took it off, threw it over her arm and stepped on the scale. She looked so disappointed as she put on her coat again and she did not realize she had weighed it too.

A MODERN SIR WALTER

Wednesday afternoon at about 4:30, I was waiting for a car at Little Chute when I saw a young woman open her umbrella. The rain from the handle fell off and rolled into the mud. A small boy ran out into the rain, picked up the ring, wiped the mud off on his coat sleeve and handed it back to the owner.

Mrs. C. L. Boynton, who submitted to an operation at Wesley Memorial hospital at Chicago ten days ago, is in quite a critical condition according to word received from Mr. Boynton, who was called to her bedside Thursday night. Her daughter also is with her.

STEAL WITH UMBRELLAS

Thursday afternoon when it was raining, two high school freshmen passed the Fish grocery. They were attracted by some nice juicy red apples and speared two with the points of their umbrellas. When they had passed the store, they removed the stolen fruit and found, I suppose, that stolen fruit is sweetest.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES HOLD FIRST MEETING OF SEASON

A good attendance marked the opening meeting of the season of Appleton Postoffice association Saturday evening. Supper was served in the basement of the postoffice. Postmaster William H. Zuehlke gave a talk on the national postmaster convention which he attended in Washington a short time ago. Owing to a large quantity of routine business to be transacted, the usual discussion of some phase of the postal laws was omitted Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Erlach, Miss May Ballman and William Erlach of Milwaukee are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merkel, 403 Walnut-st.

ZUEHLKE BEGINS RURAL INSPECTION

Farmers' Mail Boxes To Be Looked Over By Postmaster

Postmaster William H. Zuehlke will begin on the semi-annual inspection of rural mail routes in the near future. He will accompany each of the seven rural free delivery carriers on their routes of about 30 miles each. Conditions of roads, approaches, boxes, posts, name inscriptions, etc., will be inspected to see if they comply with the postal regulations. Patrons are notified after the inspection to correct any irregularities that may be found at their boxes. Those that persist in their delinquency are subject to being deprived of their mail delivery.

Boxes must be on the right side of the road, as the carrier drives. Both the post and box must be in good condition. They must be removed far enough from the road to prevent accidents and should have a good approach leading to them. The name of the patron should be painted on both sides of the box in large, neat, black letters. Both box and post should for the sake of appearance be painted white.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Pfaller and Mrs. H. P. Schommer of Milwaukee, spent Sunday with Appleton friends and relatives.

ELK OFFICERS ATTEND MEETING IN MILWAUKEE

H. H. Pelkey and C. F. Tenne attended the meeting of exalted rulers and secretaries of the 37 lodges of Elks in Wisconsin at the Elks club in Milwaukee Sunday. About 65 officers were present. Matters of policy and conduct of the various lodges were discussed.

Officers of the various lodges presented problems that they met at home, and these were answered by the statements of what is done in the Milwaukee lodge. The discussion was led by Chauncey Yockey, exalted ruler of the Milwaukee Elks, who is a member also of the grand lodge.

Recipes For Variety At Home Table

CHESTNUT DRESSING

Shell and blanch the chestnuts. Cook them in boiling salt water until soft. Drain and smash them. Melt the butter and mix with the bread crumbs. Add other ingredients and mix well.

TURNIP TUMBLE
Cook white turnips in boiling salted water until tender. Drain, dice and place in a layer in a buttered casserole. Add small pieces of cold pork or veal, then another layer of turnips and another layer of meat. Make a medium white sauce and pour over the turnips. Bake in a moderate oven (350 to 400 degrees Fahrenheit) for thirty minutes.

BEEF SALAD TORRIDA
1 pint diced cooked beef, 1 tablespoon sugar, salt, 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice, Paprika.
Mix all the ingredients together well. Heat thoroughly and just before serving add one-half cup of sour cream. Serve at once.

BEEF CUPS
Select small beefs of uniform size. Cook until tender. Cover with cold water. Slip off the skins and drain. When cold, scrape the surface with a fluted knife. Trim off one end to make each beef stand level. Remove the centers and chop the parts removed. Cut celery and pineapple in small pieces, using one-half as much pineapple as celery. Add the chopped beef. Marinate with French dressing. Fill the beef cups with the mixture. Place each beef on a lettuce leaf. Garnish with curls of celery and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

SWEET-POTATO DUMPLIES
Select sweet potatoes of medium size with smooth skins. Scrub well and bake until thoroughly done. Remove from the oven. Roll lightly in a cloth to soften. With a sharp knife, cut the skin from one side of the potato. Remove the pulp with a spoon. Mash the potato pulp. Moisten with hot milk and add salt and white pepper to taste. Beat until smooth. To each pint of potato fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs.
Fill the cases with the mixture, piling lightly so as to leave a rough or uneven surface. Brush lightly with melted butter and brown in the oven. Serve at once.—From the Delinicator.

Play Poker With Folks To Know Them, Advises Business Woman

Minneapolis, Minn.—“If I want to find out the real stuff in a man or woman, I find it more quickly in a poker game than any other way.”

No, this isn't a professor of psychology speaking—none of your so-called students of human nature or of mental complexes—it's a woman!

Miss Emma Redell, whose swift ascent in the business world took her from stenographer to assistant secretary of a big railroad system in 14 years—only woman in the world to hold such a position on a railroad—finds poker not only a stimulating recreation but a valuable aid in business.

“There's nothing more fascinating to me,” she says, “than—shh—a little game of poker.”

Nominally, Miss Redell is assistant secretary of the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad. Actually, she is chief assistant and “right-hand man” to W. H. Bremner, the president, who calls her the “best man on the payroll” and around “trouble shooters” of the M. & St. L.

LIKE RUNNING HOME
She believes there is a definite analogy between running a railroad and managing a household.

“I've been a business woman all my life and haven't had much experience in running a home,” she says, “but there can't be any difference if a household is managed correctly. Show me a man or woman who is disorganized and cold-blooded with employees and I'll show you someone who isn't very popular with members of his own family.”

Miss Redell declares there is no better avenue to success than stenography for the young woman entering business. At 25 she went to business college and then held stenographic positions with several firms before going with the M. & St. L. in 1909. In 1913 she was made chief clerk of the law department and in 1917 chief clerk to the president. And last year the board of directors made her assistant secretary of the road.

She gives the following advice to young girls who are learning stenography:

KNOW YOUR STUFF
“Be an enthusiast and learn all the detail in your office you can absorb. Never discuss a subject in which you are not thoroughly grounded unless for the purpose of obtaining information. You will only reveal that you are superficial.

“Dress neatly but not flashily. Don't spend time powdering your face with a grouch, raise Cain because when you must be doing important work. Above all, pity the girls who want to be a vamp. There's only one place where the vamp gets away with it and that's on the screen.

“Remember to be pleasant at all times. The proudest girl never gets anywhere. A man can come to his office with a grouch, raise Cain because when you must be doing important work. Above all, pity the girls who want to be a vamp. There's only one place where the vamp gets away with it and that's on the screen.

Household Suggestions

CORK CLEANER
You will find a cork much better than a cloth or a pad for rubbing soap or scouring powder on your knives and forks.

THIN GOODS
To stitch thin goods which has a tendency to pucker lay a thin sheet of paper under and stitch through both. The paper can then be torn away.

BEEF LOAF
Your beef loaf will be greatly improved if you add a cupful of cooked rice to it. Besides, that will keep it moist and make it slice neatly.

BRASS RUST
The rust that sometimes gets on brass or copper may be rubbed off with a weak solution of oxalic acid.

FASHION HINTS
LARGE AND SMALL FANS
In contrast with the large feather fans that have been so decorative with the plain type of evening gown, are small ones of lace or spangles, mounted on delicate sticks of carved ivory.

TURBAN EFFECT
The closely wrapped turban of bright red silk is worn with distinction by the woman with regular features and a clear complexion. If her hair is dark, the effect is usually better.

Her Happiness Lies In "Mothering" Convicts

Salem, Ore.—They call her Mother, with whom I come into contact, because “Mother” means love and understanding and sympathy and HOPE.

And to the convicts in state's penitentiary here, Mrs. Johnson S. Smith, wife of the warden, means all of that, and much more.

When men are shunted by society into the Big House to meditate upon the folly of not doing toward others as they would have others do toward them, there wells into their hearts a violent hatred against the world. They think they never will care for the society of others. They are content to be alone off in a corner, by themselves. But that doesn't last long.

And so they will tell you that the dearest thing to them in life is a helping hand and a tender word. And Mrs. Smith gives them that.

“I am not a sentimentalist,” she says, “but I do think there is a great deal of salvage among the accidental criminals who make up the majority of the prison population here. I never discuss with prisoners their crime or the causes which led up to it, but I only undertake to do the little practical things that tend to arouse the better natures of those with whom I come into contact. “I get real pleasure in doing some thing for the fellow who has no friends. Life's greatest tragedy, it means happiness for me.”

And so, every day, dressed in pure white, with her gray hair capping a face lit by a happy smile, she walks among them down the otherwise gloomy corridors.

They like to tell the story of Leo, Leo, III in the prison hospital, was condemned to die—of tuberculosis. Mother Smith did all she could for him on that last day, and when she finally left late at night, told attendants to phone her if Leo wanted anything.

He awoke with a raging fever, and a craving for an orange. They phoned Mother Smith. She left her bed, dressed, and drove a long way to get one for the dying boy.

And then, they like to tell of the time she crossed the prison courtyard with only a prisoner as an escort, in order to watch the men at work in the mill. Never before had a woman been in the courtyard or slope.

The prisoners will tell you that walk to the shops was dramatic. Men stopped to watch. Some wept unashamed. That's what her implied confidence in them meant.

—right on top—and threw his line in the water and—

What do you think then? He went fast asleep.

Pretty soon the stone stuck out a foot on one side, then another foot. Then it stuck out two feet on the other side.

Then it stuck out a head in front. Then it began to move.

For it wasn't a stone at all but a turtle, and Dinky Doodle was asleep plumb on top.

“Goodness, I feel heavy!” said the turtle to himself. “I must be tired. I've been on top.”

After while Dinky Doodle woke up. It was as hard as the cellar. “Oh me, oh my! Where am I?” he shouted. “I must have caught a whale and he's swallowed me!”

“No such thing!” said the turtle, shaking his head in his house under the big rock. “Here comes someone now looking for you!”

It was Nancy and Nick with their two brothers, Brookums and Dinky Doodle.

“After the big fish,” said Nick when he heard Dinky Doodle. (To Be Continued)

CORN MEAL
What could be better than corn meal muffins on a nippy October morning? The very sight of them delights the eye and tickles the palate.

Corn meal is a heat-producing food especially suitable for cold weather. Hot breads and muffins made with corn meal are more easily digested than other hot breads. And corn meal itself is cheap.

Did you ever taste “home-made” corn meal? After the corn is husked the ears are put in the oven to parch and very slightly brown. One must keep an eye on them, for after the corn is heated through it colors very quickly and burnt corn may be the result.

If you don't know this little trick with corn try it. The meal is delicious and has a nutty, different goodness of flavor impossible to describe.

CORN MEAL MUFFINS
One-half cup corn meal, 1 1/2 cups flour, 3 tablespoons baking powder, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons sugar.

Cream butter and sugar. Add egg well beaten. Mix dry ingredients and add alternately with milk. Beat until perfectly smooth. Bake in buttered muffin pans for 25 minutes in a hot oven.

SPIDER CORN BREAD
Three-fourths cup corn meal, 1 1/2 cup flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 cup salt, 1 egg, 1/2 cup sour milk, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1 cup sweet milk, 2 tablespoons butter.

Mix meal, flour, sugar and salt. Add egg well beaten and sour milk. Dissolve soda in one-half cup sweet milk and add to batter. Beat well. Heat spider and put in butter. Pour in mixture and let stand one minute. Pour half cup of sweet milk over top. Do not stir. Bake half an hour in hot oven. Serve hot.

Corn dodgers are served with bacon or sausage. After the meat is done remove from the hot fat to a hot platter and keep hot. Drop the dodgers into the hot fat and bake 15 minutes in a hot oven.

CORN DODGERS
Two cups corn meal, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon lard, boiling water.

Sauté meal with boiling water, using enough water to make a dough that will drop from the spoon. The dough should flatten on the bottom but remain high in the center. Add salt, sugar and lard and beat well. Drop from spoon and bake.

JOHNNY CAKE
One-half cup corn meal, 1 1/2 cup flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 1/2 cups water, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1 cup sweet milk.

Mix dry ingredients. Beat egg well and add milk. Continue beating until well mixed. Add to dry mixture and

“I wish, Jack, you could have seen Ruth Ellington's face,” I said to Jack that night when I told him of meeting Walter Burke, “when he caught sight of his wife and me.”

“I don't blame him much,” said Jack impatiently. “Walter Burke is one of the greatest rounders in town and there has been a good deal said lately about him and Ruth Ellington. I would rather you would not tangle around with them much, Leslie.”

“Being a woman, little Marquise, you can understand that this made me very angry and I answered somewhat coldly. “I cannot understand why Ruth Ellington and I cannot talk to Walter Burke in a public tea room. He did not take us there. And why haven't people been talking about Mr. Ellington? He certainly looked like the one who was guilty.”

“His face was most laughable as he struggled between surprise at meeting us there and a sheepish annoyance at being found out.”

“Who is friend husband's dear friend, Walt?” asked Ruth as composedly as though “friend husband” was nothing to her. “I do not seem to recognize her.”

Walter Burke made a great show of scrutinizing the woman with Ellington and then he said, “That is Edith Chapman, the moving picture actress. I thought, of course, she was a friend of yours, Ruth. Harry has been beating her around a lot lately and he rather intimated to me when I razzed him about it that he was doing it at your request.”

Right then and there, little Marquise, I learned something about men that shattered one of my ideals completely. I had always heard that men never fail to stick together, that they never told a woman anything, which would reflect upon their own sex, and here was Walter Burke telling his friend's wife that her husband very pretty woman.

From under my eyelashes I watched Harry Ellington. He kept glancing our way, although he did not call the attention of his companion to us in any way. Finally he decided that I was the woman with whom Burke was flirting and I saw a look of anger go over his face as he came to the conclusion that I was using his wife as a chaperon in my nefarious designs.

There you have it,” said Jack as I told him this. “You see very well it won't mean for you to tangle around with Ruth Ellington. I won't have it.”

“If you thought Mrs. Ellington was not the kind of woman for your wife to go with, why did you invite her here?”

“Oh, she's all right, only a little foolish,” he answered. “And Harry you know, is one of my oldest friends.”

“Then you think, Jack, it is perfectly all right for Harry Ellington to be seen in the smartest tea room in the city with a moving picture actress, while all the while his wife is staying home and eating her heart out?”

“I like Ruth Ellington, Jack. I have a feeling that she is going to be my oldest and best friend in the years to come.”

Would you believe it, little Marquise, Jack looked at me a moment in silence, then went out and slammed the door.

TOMORROW—Wait calls up Ruth Ellington—End of a flirtation.

Beat well. This makes a thin batter. Pour into a shallow, well-greased pan and bake 20 minutes in a hot oven.

OYSTER SALAD
One pint oysters, 3 grapefruit, 1/2 cup finely chopped celery, 1 green pepper, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 6 tablespoons oil, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon powdered sugar, 1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, paprika, hearts of lettuce.

Clean oysters and drain. Remove pulp from grapefruit. Scald pepper and rub off outer filmy covering. Chill and crisp. Mix oysters, celery and pepper cut in shreds. Chill. Mix salt, sugar and nutmeg with lemon juice. Beat in oil thoroughly chilled. Pour over first mixture and let stand on ice for 15 minutes. Serve on hearts of lettuce. Sprinkle with paprika.

Mrs. Elma Eylar Is Postmaster Of Oklahoma City, Okla., as Reward for Republican Political Activity—First to Hold Such Position in Big City

MRS. ELMA EYLAR
Oklahoma City, Okla. — The first woman to preside over a postoffice in a city of more than 100,000 is Mrs. Elma Eylar of this city.

A typical housewife, she was the only woman in the contest for the job. Twenty-six men took the examination, and they “also ran.”

“I don't see why a woman can't be a good postmaster as a man,” she says. “And by the way, I'll just call myself postmaster and not post-mistress.”

It is believed the Coolidge administration favored Mrs. Eylar because of active work by her as a Republican club leader in her city.

Mrs. Eylar and her husband have a town home, but spend much of their leisure moments on a country estate, where she likes to do much of her housework, even as many another housewife would.

MANY VARIETIES
Collars of fur are novelties on winter gowns. Not only are there the regular choker effects, but sailor collars and shawl collars of fur like ermine, or kolinsky.

RUFFLED FRONT
Ruffles which extend only part of the way around the skirt, leaving a plain back or front, are very much favored by the fashionable designers. The ruffled front is particularly new.

Have You These Kitchen Trials?

Curdled custard may be due to too-long cooking, or to cooking over too-hot water, or to pouring the egg mixture into hot milk instead of the milk into the egg, or to lack of stirring either when the milk is added to the egg or during the cooking, or to allowing the custard to remain over the hot water after the cooking is finished. The container should be removed from the heat as soon as the custard coats the spoon.

Cloudy coffee may result because the coffee has not been thoroughly mixed with a small amount of cold water or cold water and egg or egg-shell before the full amount of hot or cold water is added, or because it has not been given sufficient time to settle after the boiling of the coffee before it is poured into the cups.

Soggy baked potatoes may be due to overcooking, or to allowing them to stand before serving without breaking the skins to permit the steam to escape a baked potato should be eaten the moment it is done, or to poor potatoes, or to cooking the potatoes in a slow oven.

A flat omelet is the result of cooking too slowly, so that the egg is not sufficiently hardened to prevent the escape of the expanding air, or to cooking too quickly, so that the egg forms a case which prevents the enclosed air from expanding, or to insufficient cooking. If the omelet is removed before the egg is hardened all through, the expanded air escapes and the omelet falls. In almost all cases an omelet falls if not served as soon as it is cooked.—From the Delinicator.

Winter Evening Styles To Have Much Splendor

Evening dress this winter will be rather splendid, greatly given to tall fabrics and laces, restlessly hant with the sparkle of rhinestones and crystals or the vivid colors of beads. Lace will be used a deal—black lace over silver or gold or silver or crepe lace over crepe de chine.

The new evening gowns are decidedly more formal, entirely stiffer and with greater length, to ankles and touching the floor. Points of panels, slashes and drapings. The newest evening wrap is a cape of black or ruby velvet brodered and tasseled in silver lined with silver cloth or even magnificent in rich and fast metallic fabrics sometimes short and vivid blue or green.

BELOIT TRAMPLES ON LAWRENCE TEAM, 24 TO 9

Gold Victory Pushes Blue And White Out Of Championship Race

Addie's Long Sprints For Two Beloit Touchdowns And Kotal's Sparkling Play Are Features

Beloit's football team practically eliminated Lawrence from further consideration in the Midwest conference and Little Five football races by winning 24 to 9, at Lawrence field Saturday afternoon. It was the first Beloit victory over Lawrence since 1916 and the first time Beloit won a game on Lawrence field.

Lawrence was outplayed in all but the final quarter and the last few minutes of the second period. Beloit appeared to have a much smoother working machine. Its line as a rule outplayed the Blue and White and its backfield moved with greater precision.

It is true also that most of the breaks of the game went against Beloit's team. Only two or three times did Lady Luck smile on the Blue and White but her favor was temporary and she would turn her back on the local squad.

Frequent penalties marred the play. Both teams were punished about alike. Lawrence threatened the Beloit goal in the second and fourth periods but Lady Luck turned on the home squad at crucial moments. In the second period Beloit's team sailed into the Gold line on the Beloit 1 yard line with only 30 seconds left to play. The first attack failed and as the squad was lining up for another try the period ended.

Grignon's fumble on the Gold 5 yard line in the fourth quarter killed any other chance to score. Still another touchdown was lost when Boettcher failed to hold the ball after he fell on a blocked kick behind the Beloit goal. A Gold player recovered the pigskin and all that Lawrence scored was two points for a safety.

Beloit, on the other hand, made good on most of her opportunities to score. Addie's long sprints, one for 65 yards in the second period and another of 88 yards on the first play in the third quarter gave Beloit two touchdowns. The first was scored on a brilliant pass from McAuliffe to Von Drashek in the first period.

Dawson Gets Field Goal. Dawson added three points to the Gold total with a beautiful dropkick from the 40 yard line. In the preceding quarter Kotal tried a place kick from the Beloit 48 yard line and the ball crashed against the cross piece back into the field.

Beloit presented a better balanced team than Lawrence. While it has no individual stars the team play was more consistent than the Blue and White. Although Lawrence played heroic football in spots, stopping the Beloit attack and negotiating substantial gains.

Addie's two long runs were the outstanding features of Beloit's play but he was no more brilliant than McAuliffe. The sensational Gold halfback, and Butler, Tommy Mill's greatest find as an end, Butler looked like one of the best ends in the middle west. He is young and inexperienced but he has the earmarks of a corner. Wheeler also played a good game at center and Olsen was a power in the line.

KOTAL OUTSHINES ALL. None of the Beloit stars however appeared to the advantage of Eddie Kotal, last year's all state quarterback. This young man, handicapped perhaps by a team that didn't give him a chance to show his real ability, was the outstanding star of the afternoon. He made more gains than all the rest of the Lawrence team put together, punting well, threw passes and caught them. He wasn't quite so good on the defense, however. He was shaken off by Addie when he made his long run but he stopped other Beloit men who apparently were getting away for big gains. Boettcher played a better game on the defense and looked good on offense but he lacked the speed to get around the shifty Beloit ends.

Lawrence ran afoul of Lady Luck on almost the first play of the game. After Beloit kicked off Lawrence put the ball on its 30 yard line and on first play Zussman fumbled and Beloit recovered. Penalties put Beloit on Lawrence 15 yard line and then Gold fumbled. Lawrence recovering on its 13 yard line. A Beloit fumble gave Lawrence the ball and the Blue and White punted. Beloit immediately tried a drop kick from the 40 yard line but the ball went wild and Lawrence put it in play on its own 20 yard line.

PUNT BLOCKED. Cooke's attempt to punt out of danger was blocked and when the pile of arms and legs was cleared up Beloit had the ball on the Lawrence 1 yard line. Three times Beloit hit the Blue and White defense and was stopped short. Then a penalty set Beloit back to the six yard line and on the fourth play McAuliffe heaved the ball to Von Drashek who stepped over the goal line for a touchdown. Dawson dropkicked for the extra point.

Lawrence's first chance came early in the second quarter. Barry kicked the ball over the goal line and Beloit put it in play on its own 20 yard line. Lawrence crashed through and blocked Dawson's punt and the ball rolled over the goal line with two teams in pursuit. Boettcher fell on the pigskin, squeezed it and it popped out of his grip and a half dozen Beloit men pounced on it. Boettcher's failure to hold the ball cost a touchdown but gave Appleton two points for a safety.

POINT ON A FOUL. Neither team was able to gain consistently for a few minutes until Appleton visitor Saturday.

Coach Shows How It's Done

KNUTE ROCKNE

To the man in the football street, Knute Rockne of Notre Dame is the leading coach of the game.

His teams have won 45 and tied two of 51 contests during the last five years of contact with Nebraska, Army, Iowa, Georgia Tech, Purdue, Northwestern, Carnegie Tech, Indiana, and other strong teams. During the period he produced Gipp, Brandy, Casner, Mohardt, Kiley, Shaw, the Degrees, Bergmans, and Andersons and other big stars. Gipp is one of the game's immortals. In 1921, 10 of his 11 regulars won letters on various All-American teams. In 1922, after suspensions had wrecked a good eleven, he took a squad of sophomores and wrested an eleven which beat Georgia Tech, Army victory over the undefeated eleven by a fumble on the three-yard line and lost only to Nebraska, Aladdin of the Gridiron.

BADGER VICTORY OVER INDIANA IS BIG TEN FEATURE

Michigan: Illinois, Chicago And Wisconsin Look Like Favorites

Chicago — Michigan, Illinois, Chicago and Wisconsin grid teams popped into prominence by victories that place them in the list of Big Ten early title claimants. Wisconsin's 52 to 0 swamping of Indiana was the feature of the day, although closely seconded by Michigan's decisive 25 to 0 win over Ohio State.

Iowa failed to stop the fleet-footed Grange, and Illinois won 9 to 6. It was a hard earned victory, though, and fails to make Iowa an early mark for the rest of the season. Instead the Iowans may prove to be the most dangerous conference team and still have titular hopes if the championship should go to a team that has been defeated.

Michigan overwhelmed Ohio State at its own game, forward passing, and won 23 to 0. The Wolverines showed last season's form for the first time and clearly displayed their right to championship claims this year.

Chicago smashed its way to a 13 to 0 win from Northwestern and for the first time displayed a smooth working machine. A blocked punt again paved the way for the Maroon first marker.

Wisconsin outplayed Indiana at every stage of the game and won, 52 to 0. The Badger eleven crashed through the Indiana line for touchdowns in each quarter. Indiana played its best in the third period, when they held Wisconsin to one touchdown.

Purdue struck a snag in Wabash, and the Boilermakers were held to a 7 to 7 tie. Wabash threatened the Purdue goal line several times. Purdue was apparently suffering from the battering received in the Iowa game last week.

Minnesota showed the effect of Capt. Marquess's return, and romped over North Dakota, 57 to 0. It was the first game this year that the Norse men have showed a good defense.

The excitement of the great American victory hardly had subsided when Harry F. Sinclair, owner of Zev Sunday night came forward with the announcement that his horse was ready to meet Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own, if the race could be staged within the next ten days. He said he would prefer the Belmont park track for the event.

Mr. Sinclair's announcement pleased the admirers of My Own, many of whom are convinced that Zev will finish second when the thoroughbred meet.

My Own was boosted by many as

SATURDAY GAMES SHOW GRID TEAMS THEIR WEAKNESS

Mentors Prepare To Profit By Experience Gained In Week-end Contests

New York — Bathed in arnica and touched up with iodine, the college football squads go into practice Monday after the first serious battles of the year, their coaches well supplied with information about just where the trouble with each team lies.

Heavy scoring in a majority of Saturday's games indicated that defensive work had not been perfected on most playing machines. Princeton, the most notable instance among the first rank of a lack of defense is due for some heavy line work before the Navy game next Saturday.

Harvard, which showed a weak rush line attack in the game with Holy Cross, will work hard on that type of play in preparation for the game with Dartmouth. The Crimson goal line defense was as well perfected as could be desired.

Pennsylvania came out of the Columbia game in good shape and goes into practice Monday to work on some tricks for Center college. Washington and Jefferson, after its victory over Carnegie Tech, will start getting ready for the University of Detroit.

Yale suffered more severely than any other college, perhaps, with the loss of Charley O'Hearn, star halfback, who is out for the rest of the season with a broken leg. His only thought now is to recover before the hockey season gets under way. The Blue coaches have their work cut out for them, to develop a reliable drop kicker and punter before the Brown game next Saturday.

The question is often asked: "How does he do it?" Much has been written of the Notre Dame system, the Notre Dame shift and other aspects. But this picture shows the real reason for Rockne's success. It reveals Rockne in action with his dynamic, indomitable personality suggested. Other coaches have "systems" and know the game; but in ability to transmit his knowledge and infuse his spirit, Rockne is the Aladdin of the Gridiron.

KANSAS CITY WINS, 12-5 FROM ORIOLES

Kans Need One More Victory To Cinch Title In "Little Series"

Baltimore — Bunching their base hits and aided by errors and bases on balls, the Kansas City American association team had little trouble downing the Baltimore Internationals in the sixth game of the little world series here Sunday afternoon, 12 to 5.

This gives Kansas City four wins against two for Baltimore, and means that the Blues must win only one game in the remaining three to clinch the Minor league title.

Lefty Groves, Baltimore's strikeout king, started on the rubber for Baltimore and walked four of the first five men to face him, forcing in a run. Hammond drove in two more with a single to right, and Ogden was rushed to the rescue. Thomas and Frank hurried later.

GROVES WALKS FOUR. Having gotten off to a three run lead, the Blues were never headed. The Orioles threatened for a minute

In the fourth inning, but lost all hope when their defense weakened and Kansas City runs kept pouring in. Slim Caldwell hurled for the winners, was touched up for thirteen hits, but the former Big leaguer lightened up in the pinchers. All five of Baltimore's runs were the result of homers out of the park. Both players were far off color.

Screen Pass From Punt Formation Is Old Play With Modern Setting

BY ROBERT C. ZUPPKE Football Coach, University of Illinois, Author of "Football Technique and Tactics"

The screened pass, not, however, as it is built up now, was played as far back as 1906, and was the result of the ignorance of coaches as to how much blocking the linemen ought to do to protect the thrower. Many passes were intercepted and carried back for a touchdown. Today the screened pass is better protected and is used with more discretion. My Oak Park high school teams, 1910-1912, used the screened pass almost entirely and quite often from a double pass, one of which was lateral.

All offensive linemen, except an end, rush straight down the field with the snap of the ball without attempting to block the opponents. They must stay in formation as nearly as possible to screen off the defensive secondary, but must not interfere with the defensive men except before the pass is made or after it is completed.

The receiving end delays momentarily, then runs into the open space between his screen and the charging defense for the pass. The three backs protect the passer. This is a difficult pass to make as it must be made over the charging defense, must lead the runner and must be snappy but not too fast to be handled well.

As the ball is caught, the receiver should inform his teammates by signal to block. This same screen may be used with any formation, either close or open. Play No. 5 will be the "platter play."

APPLETON HIGHS BATTLE WEST GREEN BAY TO 6-6 TIE

Locals Upset White's Dope Bucket Despite Big Weight Handicap

Both Teams Make Their Scores In Final Period After Slow Play In First Three Quarters

Green Bay—Overplayed and out-fought through the greater part of three quarters by a team which conceded them a considerable weight advantage West High came back in the last quarter and succeeded in earning a tie with the Appleton Highs at West High field on Saturday, the final score being 6 to 6. Both teams made their score in the last quarter. The game was not a very good exhibition of football and until the last quarter contained but few thrills for the spectators. Considering the heavy rains of the last few days the field was in good condition although a trifle slow.

According to dope, West should have beaten the Appleton team by several touchdowns but in this instance the dope went astray. The Appleton aggregation although light presented a fast and scrappy aggression. Their running interference was extremely good for a high school team. Bowby showed class galore in calling his plays and to him goes a great deal of credit for the splendid showing of the Appletonians. He kept the down river team on its toes throughout the entire game and proved himself a real leader.

For the first three quarters of the game the Purple team played football, displaying an entire lack of spirit and aggressiveness. Their tackling was poor and they did little if any blocking. The line was not on their toes and failed to outcharge the lighter Appleton forward wall at any stage of the game. Only in the last quarter did the West Siders come back and show anywhere near Appleton form.

APPLETON THREATENS

West kicked to Appleton who returned to the 35 yard line. Two end runs netted the down river team a first down and a long pass, Bloomer to Courtney, put the ball on the West Side 5 yard line. Three plunges failed and an incomplete forward pass into the end zone gave the West Siders the ball on the 20 yard line. Ketchum tore off 15 yards around end. Three plunges gave West High 7 yards and Bracher punted to the Appleton 35 yard line. Appleton made a first down but lost 5 for offside. Three more plunges through the line made 6 yards and Appleton punted to Ketchum who was downed in his tracks. Bracher made a first down on a wide end run. West Green Bay lost 5 for offside. Three plays gained 8 yards and Bracher punted. Appleton made two first downs, bringing the ball to the Purple 30 yard line where they were held. Several pretty end runs gave the Purple two first downs but the next attempts netted but 1 yard and Bracher punted over the goal. Taking the ball of the 20 yard line Bowby of Appleton made a pretty 35 yard run through the entire Purple team being downed on the 45 yard mark. Appleton lost 5 for offside and punted. West fumbled the punt. Hillman recovering. Appleton made a first down and three more plunges gave them 6 yards. Bloomer attempted a place kick which went wide. West tore off 15 yards as the half ended.

GREEN BAY PENALIZED

Appleton kicked to Green Bay at the start of the next period. West could not gain and punted over the goal. Appleton lost 5 yards on a drive down and attempted a punt. The play was recalled and West penalized 15 yards for roughing the kicker, Courtney. Here Appleton started a drive down the field which ended on the Green Bay 4 yard line as the quarter ended. Three plays netted Appleton a scant three yards but Biller plunged over the line for the score. Bloomer failed at goal. Green Bay regained the ball and failing to gain, punted. Appleton fumbled and Green Bay recovered. A forward pass to Miller gave the West Siders a first down. Three plays fell short and Bracher punted over the goal. Appleton failed to gain and punted. Here the Purple machine began to play real football. Several end runs and off tackle smashes mixed up with two of the 5 yard carries down the field to the Appleton 5 yard line. Four plunges carried the ball over for a score. Bracher missed the goal. Appleton kicked to Kralovec who was downed on the 4 yard mark. Two passes were incomplete and Bracher punted. Appleton made 5 yards as the whistle blew for time.

BRITISH RACERS HAVE ALIBIS FOR PAPYRUS

By Associated Press
London—Racing men in England, discussing Zev's victory at Belmont park last Saturday, declare that it was foolish to send Papyrus to the United States to race under such conditions, that no horse possibly could do "itself justice on a track quite different to those to which it had been accustomed in such a short time after a rough voyage, and that the only lesson to be learned from the match is "don't do it again."

The idea of a return race in England is strongly disapproved by English authorities, and, according to the Daily Mail, several owners have declared that should a contest be planned they would appeal to the Jockey club to prohibit it.

Says the Sportsman: "If ever there was a travesty of sport it was this so-called match."

GREEN BAY PACKERS BLANK BADGERS, 12-0

Green Bay—Cutting loose with a varied aerial attack, the Packers upended their hold on the Wisconsin preeminence by defeating the Milwaukee Badgers here on Saturday by the score of 12 to 0 before a crowd of 5,000.

"Cub" Buck put the Packers in the lead in the first quarter with a field goal from the thirty-five yard line. In the third quarter a pass, Blambeck to Wheeler for forty yards, netted a touchdown. Towards the close of the game the Badgers were pushed back of their goal line for a safety.

Conselman played brilliantly for Milwaukee, getting away for several spirited dashes. The visitors attempted to open up but the Packers smothered all their attempts, particularly in the second half.

During the final period Milwaukee was often driven back into the shadow of its goal posts, but fought stubbornly and held the Packers from piling up a larger score. The game was cleanly fought and the open play gave the spectators their share of thrills.

NOTRE DAME COPS, 25-2 FROM TIGERS BY CHANGING PLAY

Eastern Grid Favorites Run True To Form But Exceed All Expectations

New York—A long established precedent was broken on Saturday when not a single upset developed in the long list of weekend college gridiron engagements.

To be sure, several of the favored eleven won their games by margins greater than were generally expected. While several others fell somewhat short of the predictions, in every instance the favored team left its respective playing field bearing the traditional triumph, a battered football.

Noteworthy among the happenings of that unusual day in football were Notre Dame's slaughtering of Princeton, 25 to 2; Cornell's one sided win over Colgate, 34 to 7; Harvard's difficult 6 to 0 victory over Holy Cross; Army's remarkable comeback, 28 to 6, against Auburn, and Penn State's 21 to 3 swamping of the Navy.

Effective tactical schemes were shown by Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame in the Princeton game. Rockne, through the Notre Dame-West Point engagement one week ago, impressed easterners and particularly Princeton scouts with the strength of Notre Dame's forward passing attack, and knowing Princeton would be guarding against aerial tactics Rockne ordered his eleven to open up with an end running and off-tackle sweeping attack. In a half dozen plays of this type the Hoosiers were over for a touchdown and thereafter both his rushing and his passing game proved effective against Coach Roper's team.

Smythe, the Army quarterback, proved the outstanding figure in the West Point-Auburn game with two sensational runs, one of more than seventy yards and another of more than ninety yards to touchdowns.

The other game involving a service eleven, that between Penn State and Navy, also boasted an outstanding individual in Wilson, the Penn State backfield man, whose brilliant open field work aided the Nittany Lions in their victory.

When the roads become clogged with traffic and there is no more joy in driving an automobile, motorists may prepare for the weeding out process. That, it has already been suggested, should be done by the use of psychology tests.

Freshmen entering college, applicants for various jobs and others are already familiar with this form of qualification test. Psychologists are studying its feasibility in other fields, among them motoring.

Thought of applying psychology tests to motorists has arisen from the realization that automobile accidents have been mounting without precedent. Automobiles are second among the causes of accidental deaths in this country, falls taking the lead. This rate is more than 10 to every 1000 population.

The psychologists argue that slow thinking and uncertain or wavering actions on the part of auto drivers cause a great majority of these accidents. By proper tests, they add, the applicant's sense of caution and his alertness could be ascertained and many a dangerous motorist could be rejected for license.

BETTER THAN LAWS

"Applied psychology," says Dr. William A. McKeever of Chicago, "would do more in a minute to prevent accidents than legislation and criminal prosecution will do in an hour. Require every driver to pass a mental test, not in intelligence, but in correct visualization; not of how to avoid accidents, but of how to drive correctly at every critical point."

New York state requires a road test of applicants for drivers' licenses, but according to Magistrate William G. McArdoo, it is ineffective.

"I can be an epileptic with a glass eye and a wooden leg, a bad character," says McArdoo, "and I can still fill out an application and tell a lot of lies and, following a perfunctory road test and superficial character examination get a license. Then I can sit behind a 40 or 50-horsepower motor and drive where I will."

"The mental examination is most important, yet there is none," says Dr. John W. Perilli, trustee of Bellevue Hospital. "Often the family physician will simply sign the application with his assurance that the individual is in good health. But the applicant may be of nervous temperament; his brain and his hands may not be co-ordinate. Such a person is a power for evil, for in a crisis he cannot be depended upon to act in a way to prevent a mishap."

Dr. Perilli suggests a board of examiners who will put the applicant through his paces, showing whether in a pinch he can act wisely.

"Then have him appear before a medical board. If he does not co-ordinate, if his eyesight is bad or he is colorblind, if he has suffered from any disease that may make him lose control of himself in an emergency, deny him his license."

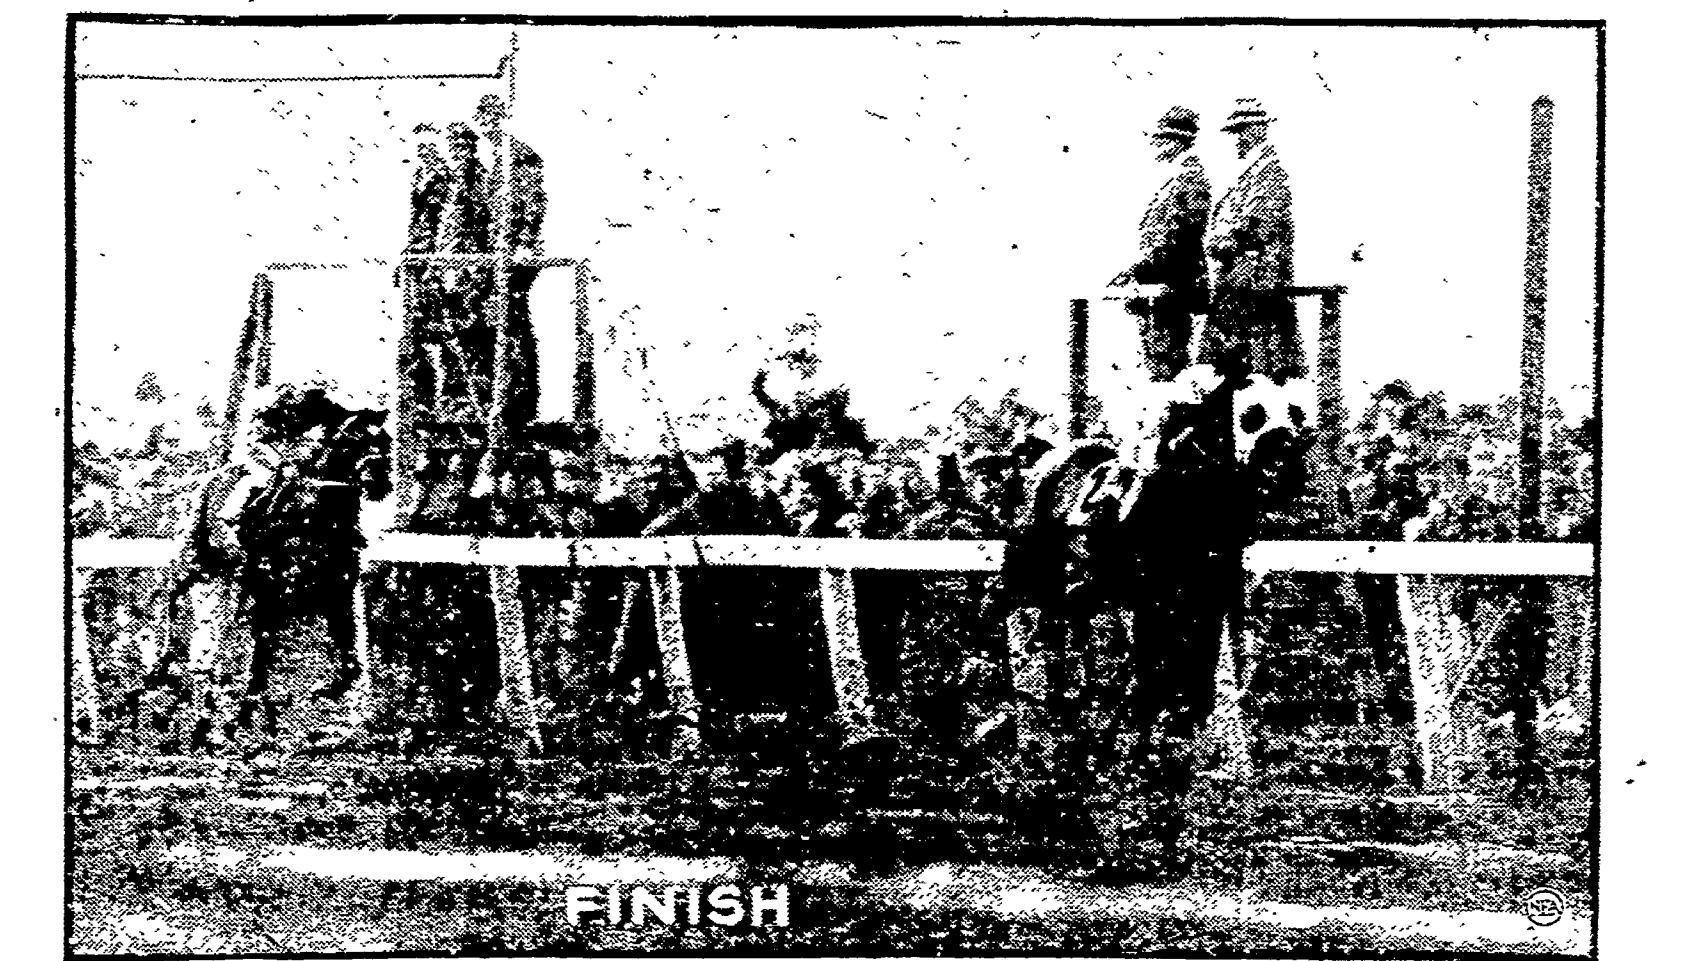

NEW LONDONERS ESCAPE FLOOD IN OKLAHOMA

Mr. and Mrs. William Abel of New London, are safe at Hooker, Oklahoma and did not suffer because of the flood in that locality, according to word received by New London friends. They may be detained for several days because of inability to drive their automobile through the flood area.

Anxiety was felt for the safety of the New London couple when it was learned that a flood had visited their destination, with somewhat disastrous results. They made the trip to Hooker in their Ford automobile and had intended to start back by this time.

Finish Of First International Match Race

Zev wins! Zev! Zev! That cry came from 70,000 throats as Zev, belonging to Harry Sinclair, American oil magnate, triumphed over Papyrus, England's pride owned by Ben Irish, gentleman farmer, in a race at a mile and a half at Belmont Park, N. Y., in the first international match race. The winner received $80,000 and a gold cup; the loser $20,000.

MENTAL TESTS FOR DRIVERS TO REDUCE MOTORING HAZARDS

Weeding Out Process Will Come When Roads Get Congested

When the roads become clogged with traffic and there is no more joy in driving an automobile, motorists may prepare for the weeding out process. That, it has already been suggested, should be done by the use of psychology tests.

Freshmen entering college, applicants for various jobs and others are already familiar with this form of qualification test. Psychologists are studying its feasibility in other fields, among them motoring.

Thought of applying psychology tests to motorists has arisen from the realization that automobile accidents have been mounting without precedent. Automobiles are second among the causes of accidental deaths in this country, falls taking the lead. This rate is more than 10 to every 1000 population.

The psychologists argue that slow thinking and uncertain or wavering actions on the part of auto drivers cause a great majority of these accidents. By proper tests, they add, the applicant's sense of caution and his alertness could be ascertained and many a dangerous motorist could be rejected for license.

BETTER THAN LAWS

"Applied psychology," says Dr. William A. McKeever of Chicago, "would do more in a minute to prevent accidents than legislation and criminal prosecution will do in an hour. Require every driver to pass a mental test, not in intelligence, but in correct visualization; not of how to avoid accidents, but of how to drive correctly at every critical point."

New York state requires a road test of applicants for drivers' licenses, but according to Magistrate William G. McArdoo, it is ineffective.

"I can be an epileptic with a glass eye and a wooden leg, a bad character," says McArdoo, "and I can still fill out an application and tell a lot of lies and, following a perfunctory road test and superficial character examination get a license. Then I can sit behind a 40 or 50-horsepower motor and drive where I will."

"The mental examination is most important, yet there is none," says Dr. John W. Perilli, trustee of Bellevue Hospital. "Often the family physician will simply sign the application with his assurance that the individual is in good health. But the applicant may be of nervous temperament; his brain and his hands may not be co-ordinate. Such a person is a power for evil, for in a crisis he cannot be depended upon to act in a way to prevent a mishap."

Dr. Perilli suggests a board of examiners who will put the applicant through his paces, showing whether in a pinch he can act wisely.

"Then have him appear before a medical board. If he does not co-ordinate, if his eyesight is bad or he is colorblind, if he has suffered from any disease that may make him lose control of himself in an emergency, deny him his license."

WILD GEESSE PRESAGE ADVENT OF COLD WEATHER

Several flocks of wild geese have been observed going over the city within the last two days, an indication that cold weather is approaching. A flock of nearly 50 geese was headed north over the business part of the city Friday afternoon, but made slow progress against the heavy gale and were frequently carried out of their course.

C. & N. W. RAILWAY IS 75 YEARS OLD

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the Chicago & North Western Railway system will be celebrated in Chicago on Wednesday, Oct. 24, 1923, when as a special feature of the occasion, the officials of the railway will have as their guests for the day 100 veterans who have been in active service for 50 years or more.

These veterans, representing all branches of the railway service, and who have played so important a part in building this—the first railway west of Chicago—will be brought to that city as guests of the "North Western." Upon arrival they will be met at the Madison Street Passenger Terminal by a reception committee composed of officials of the road, who will provide a day of entertainment. The will be tendered a luncheon in the Passenger Terminal by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway's Women's club, and in the afternoon will be taken on an automobile tour of the park and boulevard system of Chicago, the day ending with a "get-together" and "good-fellowship" dinner at one of the principal hotels.

The Chicago & North Western Railway is the pioneer road of the west, the old Galena and Chicago Union, now a part of the present system, having been the first railroad to lay tracks west of Chicago, and its construction was an epoch-making event in the history of the development of the west and northwest. From the modest beginning of ten miles extending from Chicago to Maywood, Ill., the system now embraces a total of over 10,000 miles of track reaching into nine states.

The first locomotive—"The Pioneer," which visitors to the World's Columbian Exposition will remember as being one of the interesting historical exhibits is still in possession of the company and in excellent state of repairs.

PERSHING LEAVES ON TOUR OF FRANCE

By Associated Press
Washington—John J. Pershing who a little over six years ago secretly left Washington for France again has slipped quietly away for a sojourn in French soil. His passage over the Atlantic has been engaged aboard the liner Leviathan, sailing Saturday from New York and it will be three months before he returns.

Neither the general's name nor that of his sister Mrs. D. M. Butler of Nebraska, who accompanied him, appears on the passenger list, but only in respect to the lack of publicity surrounding his departure does his going Saturday resemble that of 1917. This time he is bound for a holiday. If

Bob Bonini Has Big Future On Wisconsin Grid

Bob Bonini, Appleton High school grid prodigy is making a name for himself and incidentally gathering glory for his former school and his hometown on the Wisconsin freshman football squad. Fans who saw him play on the local high squad for the past few years were unanimous in predicting a brilliant future on the chalkmarked field for him, and evidently he is making good their predictions. The rule prohibiting freshmen from playing on the varsity eleven is the only thing which keeps him from that honor this year. The youthful giant has made such a favorable impression on the Madison fans that they join in forecasting his choice as All-American lineman. A Madison scribe has this to say of him:

"Bob Bonini, not yet 18 years of age, stands six feet three inches and tips the scales at 228 pounds stripped. He is the best center seen on the freshman team here in years. He does not have a pound of fat at but is all muscle. Steady as a clock in passing the ball, he has made the center of the freshman line impregnable on defense and at the same time opens up great holes for the backs on offense."

will be so far as the brother and sister are able to control events, just a sightseeing tour of their own.

The plan for the trip was laid months ago.

MARINETTE HIGHS HUMBLE EAST GREEN BAY, 23-0 SATURDAY

Purple And White School Scores Fifth Straight Win Of Season

Marinette—East Green Bay's championship hopes were shattered on Saturday when Coach Tom Johnson's squad forced them to take a 23 to 0 defeat in one of the fastest games seen on the Wisconsin gridiron this season. Saturday's victory for the Purple and White squad marked the fifth straight win.

Marinette scored during the first forty-five seconds of play when Capt. Lund, on the first play following the kickoff, pranced sixty-five yards around the left end for a touchdown. Toward the close of the first quarter Capt. Lund booted a place kick between the uprights for an additional 3 points. The second quarter remained scoreless. The third quarter was featured by another long run when Kresky tore away with an intercepted pass for approximately an other sixty-five yard run. Both of these runs were the prettiest seen on the local gridiron in many moons.

Capt. Lund scored the final touchdown during the last minutes of play when he backed two holes in the line netting him twenty-five and ten yards for a score.

The weather, though cold, was ideal for the game. Over 2,000 fans saw the game.

A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer. The work of laying out the new highways is well under way at the state highway office. The routes will be determined on the basis of information gathered at the hearings held at the various county seats.

Bonavine is one of Winter's newest coat fabrics—and it is used in many of the $59.50 coats. Truvenette is another new coat fabric of rich pile and lustrous appearance. IT SEEMS IMPOSSIBLE THAT CLOTHING SHOULD HOLD SO MUCH DIRT

Yet every day we remove pounds and pounds of it from clothing sent us to be dry cleaned. Note the emphasis on that word "remove". With our new system of cleaning, a high-speed centrifugal clarifier actually removes dirt from the cleaning machine as fast as the cleansing fluid washes it from the garments. We can show you the dirt taken out of our customer's clothing any time you call. This new system not only enables us to remove the last trace of dirt from your clothes, but makes it impossible for dirt or germs from one garment to get into another. Thus it makes the dry cleaning process not only more effective, but far more sanitary.

This is just one of many exceptional features of our dry cleaning service. Let us demonstrate the quality of our work, the promptness of our service and the economy of regular dry cleaning.
